LACKAWANNA TRAINS IN REAR-END CRASH

Horribile Disaster Near Corning, N. Y., Brings Death to Passengers Homeward Bound to Spend Fourth.

COACHES HURLED DOWN EMBANKMENT

Corning, N. Y., July 4.—Lackawanna passenger train No. 9, west bound, which left New York City at 8:45 o'clock last night for Buffalo, was crushed from behind by a train of express cars near here early today, and it is believed that more than forty passengers were killed and fifty injured.

Thirty-four bodies had been taken from the debris at 9 o'clock. The crash occurred before daylight. Many of the injured were mortally hurt. Most of the dead and injured were in the day coaches in the rear of the train which toppled into the ditch. The five Pullman cars remained upon the track.

The disaster occurred two miles east of this city. The passenger train, which runs from New York to Buffalo, had been standing on the track for twenty minutes, when the express train, which carried no passengers, struck it in the rear at full speed.

Hurled Down Embankment.

The two day coaches attached to the rear of No. 9 were hurled down an embankment and the express plunged half way through the rear Pullman of the standing train before it came to a stop.

The collision occurred at 5:25 o'clock this morning.

Most of the killed were passengers in the day coaches who were going home to spend the Fourth.

F. W. Drake, of Passaic, N. J., the Pullman conductor, said that four passengers were killed in the Pullman.

On account of the confusion and lack of wire communication the news of the disaster was slow in reaching this city, but by 6:30 o'clock a score of physicians were on the scene and the injured were being brought to the Corning hospital.

Pinned Under Wreckage.

The bodies of the dead were laid on the top of the embankment along the tracks and at the roadside and covered with blankets from the Pullman. A number of the injured are still pinned under the wreckage and their groans and shrieks can be clearly heard.

Every undertaker in Corning was called to help care for the dead, but their wagons were first pressed into service to carry the injured to the hospital. Many of the injured also were taken away in automobiles.

Cause Not Yet Determined.

As yet the cause of the wreck has not been determined. The place where it occurred was a straight stretch of track. So far as can be ascertained the engineer of the express train had no warning that the passenger train was in his way.

It is believed that when he first saw it he thought the train was standing on a parallel track.

A special relief train from Elmira arrived at 7 o'clock, bringing physicians and nurses.

Bodies Removed to Corning.

Coroner Herbert B. Smith ordered all the bodies removed to this city, and he is planning to hold an inquest today before the passengers, who will be the main witnesses in the case, have left the city.

The passenger train, which left New York at 8:45 last night, was heavily loaded and was drawn by two engines. It was running about half an hour late.

MEXICANS BATTLE WHILE UNCLE SAM CELEBRATES

Federals Troops at Daylight Renew Attack on Rebel Lines in Effort to Take Bachimba Canyon.

43290

At General Huerta's Federal Headquarters, Bachimba, Mexico, July 4.—The semi-circular battle line of government troops at daybreak today renewed the attack on the rebels for possession of Bachimba canyon, the entrance to which, for a distance of a mile, together with several high positions, were gained by the federals in the opening of hostilities yesterday.

Twenty-six cannon and sixteen machine guns distributed on the east and west sides of the mountain pass here opened fire on the rebels simultaneously. The rebel artillery in comparison seemed defective and erratic.

Losses in the first day's fighting apparently were great, as today the battlefield was strewn with the dead and wounded on both sides.

The rebels had clung tenaciously to their positions, but the combined assaults of infantry and cavalry, supported by the deadly fire of the artillery, had forced them to yield strategic hills and ranges overlooking the canyon. The federal troops carried out orders with mathematical precision.

Conspicuous in the fighting besides General Huerta as the commander-in-chief were Lieutenant Generals Rabago and Tellez, as well as Raoul Madero, a brother of President Madero.

WILL ABANDON CHIHUAHUA.

Rebel Army, Admitting Defeat, Retreats Toward American Border.

At General Orozco's Rebel Headquarters, Mahula, Mexico, July 4.—Under cover of darkness the entire rebel army withdrew early today from Bachimba, a distance of twenty-five miles north of Mahula, which is but fifteen miles below the city of Chihuahua. The rebels admit their defeat, attributing it to a lack of ammunition. The whole rebel army will retreat toward the American border, abandoning the city of Chihuahua to the federals.

COMMITTEE OFF TO SEE WILSON

Will Discuss New Head of Organization to Succeed Mack.

WILL HAVE LUNCHEON

Baltimore, July 4.—The democratic national committee left here this morning for Seagirt, N. J., to call upon Governor Wilson. The campaign will be discussed and a sub-committee composed of Chairman Mack, Secretary Woodson and three other members of the committee expect to talk with the candidate over the naming of the new head of the national committee to succeed Mr. Mack, who has announced his retirement.

WILL RECEIVE IN TENT.

Seagirt, N. J., July 4.—Governor Wilson did not get up until 9 o'clock this morning, for he did not retire until after midnight, finishing his reading of the democratic national platform.

The national committee is expected early this afternoon and will be received by the governor in a tent on the lawn. Luncheon will be served in the tent.

CURE HICCOUGHS BUT PATIENT DIES

Physicians Use Firecracker in Treatment at Logansport Hospital.

WAS A LAST RESORT

Logansport, Ind., July 4.—Physicians exploded a giant firecracker at the bedside of James McGowan at a hospital today in the hope that the nervous shock would stop hiccoughing, from which he had been suffering for five days, but though he was quieted he died of exhaustion.

McGowan, who was 48 years old, had been hiccoughing continuously and electricity and other remedial agents were tried without effect before the opening of the Fourth of July celebration suggested the fire cracker as a last aid.

CAP STRUCK HIS LEG.

Arthur Timmis, Nickel Plate Trainman, Victim of Accident.

Arthur Timmis, of Elm street, yard conductor for the Nickel Plate, was the victim of a peculiar accident this morning while riding an engine through the Nickel Plate yards. A big cap which had been placed on the track exploded as the engine passed over it, striking Mr. Timmis on the left leg and imbedding itself deep within the flesh. The injury is not serious, however, unless blood poisoning should set in.

Another victim of the Fourth celebration is Miss Ruth Schrader, the seven-year-old daughter of Ernest Schrader, 1123 East Creighton avenue. A small firecracker exploded in her right hand Wednesday evening, burning the two fingers and the thumb.

Las Vegas, N. M., July 4.—The streets of Las Vegas presented an animated scene today many hours before the time set for the first world's heavy weight championship since Jack Johnson defended that title against Jim Jeffries at Reno two years ago today.

This time it was Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, who assailed the negro's claim to the pugilistic supremacy and he was backed by a big following of Colorado sport lovers who poured into town all last night and today.

Two years ago Johnson was a shortender in the betting, Jeffries, then unbeaten but retired, being a ten to seven favorite. Today it was all the other way. Johnson's own money, offered at two to one on himself, found no takers.

Despite the one-sided look of the betting commissioners' board, there appeared to be a wide interest in the fight.

A great many fight followers had gathered in this city to witness the match and Las Vegas looked in a small way today as Reno did two years ago. The rattle and click of roulette wheels, the droning voices of the faro dealers were missing, but the same restless, foot-weary crowd surged back and forth along the narrow sidewalks.

The crowds, the Fourth of July hunting here and there and the cries of newsboys and hucksters lent an air of excitement and anticipation, but the feeling of uncertainty and eager interest in the outcome which marked Fourth of July morning at Reno was absent.

ALL FORT WAYNE OBSERVES FOURTH

Tremendous Throng at Foster Park and Other Attractions About City Also Draw Heavily.

With ideal weather during the morning as an extra inducement, all Fort Wayne joined today in the celebration of the anniversary of the nation's independence. The holiday is being universally observed and all roads leading to the city are bringing in hundreds of people, attracted by the many special events that are being held during the day. The holiday was ushered in by patriotic young Americans, who last night spent their long saved pennies for fireworks, and although the police say Fourth of July eve was unusually quiet, there was enough noise to satisfy the most patriotic. Up to noon no accidents or fatalities had been reported.

Business Is Suspended.

All business is suspended in the city. Stores and other business institutions have closed their doors in observance of one of the country's most important holidays. Hundreds of homes in all parts of the city have been beautifully decorated in the national colors and a ing the populace. Pleasure-seeking in gthe populece. Pleasure-seeking crowds are enjoying the day in every manner appropriate to the occasion. Thousands of picnickers have rushed to the parks and nearby groves, where, under the cooling shade of friendly trees, the day is to be spent in merrymaking.

Conducted along safe and sane lines the local observance of the day promises to be one of the best in history. Thousands of people are already at Foster park to participate in the exercises to be held there, and at the same time pay tribute to the donors of the park, Col. D. N. and Hon. S. M. Foster.

Early this morning the crowds began arriving at the beautiful park south of the city, and by 9 o'clock the traction company was forced to establish a faster schedule in order to accommodate the pleasure-seekers. By noon traffic to the park was so heavy that a three-minute schedule was placed in operation.

The Opening Program.

Headed by the Packard band, the congregation of Emmaus Lutheran church formed in line in front of the school hall on South Broadway and marched to the park. The procession was more than five blocks in length and included in the procession were children of the school, members of the Junior league, the Young Ladies' society and the Young Men's society of the congregation. The Emmaus church people, besides holding a picnic at the park, have been awarded all concession privileges for the day.

The program opened at the platform in the first grove, when the entire congregation, led by Professor William Miles, rendered a number of patriotic songs. This was followed by an address by the pastor, Rev. Philip Wambsganss, who introduced to the congregation the new teacher, Professor Carl Floering, of Decatur, Ill., who is to begin his duties here at the parochial school next term. Rev. Wambsganss also spoke at some length upon the significance of July the Fourth, and closed by extending the thanks of his congregation to the Messrs. Foster, donors of the park.

Following the program the crowds were entertained by a baseball game between the Pennsylvania and Wabash teams of the Shop league.

In Good Condition.

The park is in excellent condition for the exercises. The rain of yesterday in no way made the place disagreeable, as the grove in which the exercises are held is situated high on a bluff along the St. Mary's. Nothing has been left undone by the committees in charge to provide for the pleasure of those visiting the park. Dozens of swings have been placed about the beautiful groves for the children, comfort stations have been erected, and this evening hundreds of Japanese lanterns will be hung from

THERE'S RIVALRY TO BURN, BUT IT'S A PERFECTLY LADY-LIKE FIGHT.

In the Center, Mrs. Phillip N. Moore, President of the Federation; on the Left, Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, and on the Right, Mrs. Phillip Carpenter, Candidates for the Presidency.

Just imagine T. Roosevelt and one W. Taft having their pictures taken together, with a look-pleasant-please cast of countenance, on the eve of the Chicago convention. You can't. Also imagine Bryan and Parker in a similar pose at Baltimore, or Wilson and Clark and Underwood and Harmon lined up at a photograph parlor and looking perfectly peaceful and normal. Again you can't.

Then look at the accompanying picture and you will see that the ladies conduct their little rivalries on a somewhat different line than the men folks who have been creating blue smoke and black headlines at Baltimore and Chicago.

For there's a real fight on between Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, of Texas, and Mrs. Phillip Carpenter, of New York, and the prize—the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, now holding its convention in San Francisco—is "some job," so to speak, meaning to the successful clubwoman something possibly approaching what a white house seat does to the male politician.

But do the women hurl verbal brickbats and rhetorical cobblestones and things? They do not, with the accent on the n-o-t. Instead, they have their pictures taken together, and if the steam roller's working, it isn't on exhibition at headquarters, while the short and ugly word hasn't once been heard and nobody has yet refused to "try title to stolen property before the thief who stole it."

The fight for the presidency is real and earnest—but it's perfectly lady-like.

The Old-Time Fourth.

Attracted an Immense Crowd.

"THE FOURTH OF JULY," said Larry Randall, "carries a man back to the old days of his kidhood, when we never heard anything about safety or saneness, and when the one who was the most reckless and the most insane had the best time of all—if he managed to live through it.

"I remember year after year we used to go around back of the stores for several days before the great day and gathered up all the dry goods boxes and other inflammable stuff and hide it until the night before the Fourth, when we would get it all out and stack it up in an immense pile in the middle of the street at the corner of Berry and Lafayette streets. After we had piled up everything we could lay our hands on, we would put a small keg on top, and that was the signal that the job was done. We would then touch off the pile and the bonfire that followed was seen for miles around and attracted an immense crowd. It looked as if the whole town was burning up. It was always a wild night and a fitting introduction to the big day that was to follow.

"I remember one year when the authorities had decided the fire was a dangerous thing. My father was mayor at that time. Well, on the night we touched off the fire, my brother, Frank Randall, and 'Billy' Daizell, who were busy fixing up the stack of boxes, were nabbed by Officer Kelly, who had been on watch to catch any offenders. As he was taking them away to the station a big mob of boys followed along. Somebody told the officer that one of the boys was the mayor's son, and he dropped the two like a pair of hot potatoes, and you ought to have seen them disappear.

"Oh, those were the good old days when all of us were anything but safe and sane."

WERE FIREWORKS CAUSE OF BLAZE?

Bash Hay Barn and Its Contents Destroyed in $20,000 Fire.

SAVE NEAR-BY HOMES

Twenty thousand dollars in baled hay, grains and seeds, stored in the S. Bash Co.'s storage barn along the Lake Erie and Western tracks, just west of Wells street, went up in fire and smoke when the sheeted tin structure caught fire Wednesday evening about 7 o'clock and was completely destroyed.

Originating at an hour when the young boys in the neighborhood were inaugurating their celebration of the Fourth, the fire was probably due to sparks from firecrackers. Chief Hilbrecht, of the fire department, believes that the most likely explanation of the cause, though he is unable to attribute it definintely. It is said that no Lake Erie and Western engine had passed along the tracks at that point for some time before the fire started.

The loss is heavy upon the S. Bash & Co., for the insurance carried on the building and contents amounts to only $10,000. The policies are locked in the Bash safe, and as the cashier is spending the Fourth out of the city, the exact amounts and the companies carrying the insurance could not be learned today.

Blaze Was Spectacular.

The fire itself was spectacular. Within but a few minutes after the barn had caught fire the whole mass of baled hay, completely filling the barn, which was 50 by 150 feet in size, was a seething caldron of fire and smoke. Arriving at the scene, Chief Hilbrecht hurriedly summoned aid from the other fire companies about the city, and it was 5 o'clock this morning before the men of companies 1, 3 and 6 returned to their stations. During all of this morning No. 4 was kept at the fire, working over the thickly packed hay and soaking it with water in an effort to extinguish the still smoldering embers.

Only a small alley-way separates the Bash barn from the rear of a number of frame dwelling houses along Fairmount place, and firemen were kept busy during most of the evening protecting the dwellings from the sparks and flying pieces of fire which alighted for several squares around.

Several of the homes along Fairmount place did start burning, but the flames were quickly put out and no serious damages were sustained. However, all the dwellings near the barn were more or less scorched and in a number many window panes were cracked by the intense heat.

The Homes in Danger.

Among the homes endangered by the blaze and which suffered slight losses are those of Daniel Rheim, 425 Fairmount place; Mrs. A. E. Finney, 419 Fairmount place; Mrs. Kline, 423 Fairmount place; Misses Mary and Margaret Potts, of 429 Fairmount place; Ed Stevens, 433 Fairmount place; Ward Sunier, 435 Fairmount place; G. W. Libbing, 437 Fairmount place; John Walsh, 509 Fairmount place, and Joseph Hessler, of 515 Fairmount place.

Standing along the Lake Erie tracks, within ten feet of the barn, were three freight cars, two empties and one filled with coal. The lines of hose were laid before the cars could be removed to a place of safety and the cars were damaged to the amount of about $500.

The dense clouds of smoke arising from the fire could be seen from all parts of the city, attracting an enormous crowd to the scene. The firemen were at a disadvantage in fighting the flames, both in this respect and also the fact that the flames had such a good headway by the time water could be played upon them. Chief Hilbrecht saw that he could not hope to save the barn, but the department gained the control of the fire as rapidly as possible and saved the surrounding buildings.

SAYS BOY WAS SHOCKED.

S. E. Buck Was Passenger in Elevator When Feiertag Was Killed.

S. E. Buck, of 410 Old Fort Place, the only passenger in the I. O. O. F. building elevator at the time of the accident when Benjamin K. Feiertag lost his life, states that the lad must have received an electrical shock which rendered him helpless.

"I entered the elevator and turned to place some books which I was carrying on a chair in the car, when I heard the boy scream. Turning, I saw only his feet and ankles protruding above the floor of the elevator. I devoted my efforts to stop the car, but was unable to do so before the boy plunged to the bottom of the elevator shaft."

GIRL IS VICTOR IN WAR ON VICE

Miss Brooks Sees Last West Hammond Dive Close Doors.

MADE A GREAT FIGHT

Chicago, July 4.—Virginia Brooks has triumphed over her enemies.

The girl reformer finally has purged West Hammond, Ill., of its dives.

Her campaign of eighteen months, in which there have been many battles and some bloodshed, closed yesterday when Cornelius Talty, credited with operating the most notorious of the town's disreputable houses, shut up his shop and said he had quit for good.

This was the climax of a series of seven raids in ten days by town authorities who were placed in office by Miss Brooks and the army of Bohemians, Hungarians and Poles that followed her militant leadership.

Cafe Also Closed.

It was preceded by the closing of the rear rooms of the Virginia Brooks cafe, said to have been named in derision of the girl reformer in the early days of her struggle. Five other places turned their inmates away.

The slender, dark-eyed girl, who was laughed at on Christmas day, 1910, when she announced that her gift to the village would be the opening of an anti-vice crusade, was asked yesterday how it seemed to be victorious.

"Need you ask such a question? Need anyone who has followed this fight? Why, it is the happiest day of my life," she replied.

"When you consider that it has taken nearly two years, when you remember that we have received little encouragement; that I have been abused, arrested and even threatened with death, you may realize that the word happy is not sufficiently strong to express how I feel.

Not to Fight Saloons.

"How about the saloons, are you going to start a campaign against them?" was asked.

"You can't expect a city of this kind to be a Sunday school," said Miss Brooks. "We will not fight the saloons so long as they are conducted decently. Our campaign has been only against dives and against open gambling. Thank God, we have won."

But the campaigning is not over. She has announced that she will enlist every one of West Hammond's 8,000 residents in a movement to bring factories to the town. Now that the so-called "vice trust" has been smashed, Miss Brooks' followers believe their ambitions may be realized.

Starts Work in 1911.

Virginia Brooks first came to the front on March 25, 1911, when she led a band of women against a street paving gang and effectually routed them. She had appealed to village authorities, charging graft in the construction of the pavement and declaring that it was being improperly laid.

They did not heed her denunciations. The riot followed. Bricks were thrown. Persons were injured. And Miss Brooks was arrested, charged with assaulting a police officer.

MUST PROVE HE'S FINNEGAN.

Woman Declares He's Antolick, a Pole, and Her Husband.

Newark, N. J., July 4.—John Finnegan, a drug clerk of Montclair, N. J., has been summoned to appear in the First precinct police court, Newark, to settle the question whether he is really Finnegan or Andrew Antolick. A woman who says she is the wife of Andrew Antolick, declares that the drug clerk, known as Finnegan—and he insists that he is none other—is her legal husband and father of her two children, who, she says, positively identified him. Mrs. Antolick lives at 20 Montgomery street, Newark. She says her husband deserted her about five years ago. He was born in Poland. Finnegan says he doesn't know the woman. Acting Judge Rooney got into communication with Finnegan and obtained his promise to appear in court to satisfy the woman that he is the person he represents himself to be.

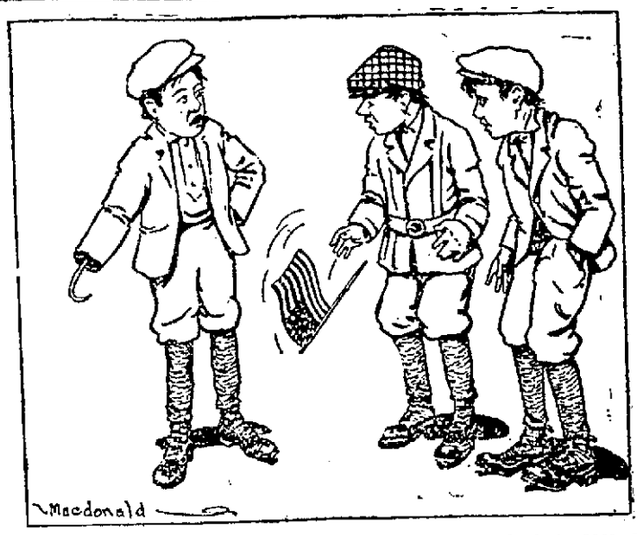
4th in Fort Wayne Has Been Growing Steadily Saner for Past Twelve Years



"'Twas right here I fired the little brass cannon away back in 1909, boys. 'Twas right here she stood. She was packed to the muzzle with gravel and tenpenny nails, with a handful of powder behind. Carefully I touched the match, and—oh, well, boys—it's an old story of how I bled for my country."

THE FOURTH OF JULY in Fort Wayne has always had its toll of accidents, due to some phase of the celebration, but during the past twelve years, there has been but one fatality, and that occurred in 1907 and was horrible in its nature. The other years since 1900 have produced a list of minor accidents, including everything from slightly burned fingers to scorched eyelids.

Every year during the time of the Fourth the hope is always expressed that "the accidents this year won't be as bad as in past years." But to carefully go over the lists of accidents, except for the fated year of 1907, the minor character of most of them is surprising.

A resume of the files of the papers of the past twelve years shows the general character of mishaps to have been as follows:

1900—"There was not the usual chapter of maimed and mangled, though there were some minor accidents."

1901—"There was the usual harvest of minor accidents, though the number was less than in previous years."

1902—"The celebration of the Fourth was patriotic, but the enthusiasm died down by 10 p. m. The accidents of the day were minor in character."

1903—"There were many minor Fourth accidents, and nearly all the victims were small boys."

1904—"The celebration of the Fourth was loud, but there were no serious injuries."

1905—"Under the new regime, which is trying for a safer and saner celebration, there were fewer accidents."

1906—"Nobody was killed in the celebration of the Fourth, but a score or more were slightly injured. The dynamite cane figured as a prominent cause of injured. Among those injured are Carl Miller, Wayne Smitley, Floyd Mathias, Adam Haag, Roland McCurdy, Ollie Schmuck, James Thompson, Arthur LaMaster and Frank Mills."

1907—"One death resulted from the fireworks celebration of the Fourth. Andrew Weber was tamping dynamite powder into a cannon with a ramrod, when the cannon exploded, tearing out the front of Mr. Weber's head. He died the 5th of July. The other accidents were not very serious."

1908—"The celebration of the Fourth was the sanest and quietest in years."

1909—"The Fourth occurred on Sunday, and but one victim of the day was seriously hurt. Louis Kropp's 12-year-old son had his face badly burned by powder."

1910—"Few accidents marred the celebration of the Fourth."

1911—"The campaign for a sane Fourth was probably the cause of the small number of accidents resulting from the celebration."

DOESN'T INTEND TO QUIT FIGHT

Roosevelt is Going Right Ahead With Third Party Idea.

TALKS WITH AIDES

Oyster Bay, July 4.—With the democratic national ticket in the field, Colonel Roosevelt and a group of his lieutenants have taken up the work of laying the foundation upon which they hope to build a new party. Since the birth of the party in Chicago little has been done, as Colonel Roosevelt said he felt it necessary to await the outcome at Baltimore.

The situation in the light of the nomination of Woodrow Wilson was discussed at a conference at Sagamore Hill, which was attended by Senator Dixon, of Montana; William Flynn, of Pittsburg; Geo. W. Perkins and Frank A. Munsey, of New York, and E. A. Van Valkenberg, of Philadelphia.

The presence of these men at Sagamore Hill gave rise to reports that the third party movement had suffered a serious setback as a result of the selection of candidates by the democratic convention, and that some of Colonel Roosevelt's leaders were in favor of abandoning the fight. Colonel Roosevelt denied this emphatically.

"There was no thought of abandoning the fight," said he. "These men simply came to talk over the situation with me and to discuss details of the call for the national convention."

The statement of Governor Osborne, of Michigan, one of the seven governor's who asked Colonel Roosevelt to become a candidate for the republican nomination, that in his opinion no third party was now necessary, was cited to the colonel as one reason for the reports that all was not going well with the movement.

"Governor Osborne has said about the same thing before," he said. "I did not expect to have his support. We are going to have some losses of this sort. Governor Hadley came out for Taft, Governor Osborne for Wilson. Our plans will not be affected."

Colonel Roosevelt was asked what the party would be named.

"Search me, by George!" he replied. "The names I have heard most frequently mentioned are 'progressive party' and 'national progressive party.' The convention will decide."

Although Senator Dixon said yesterday that the call for the convention would probably be issued tomorrow, Colonel Roosevelt gave it as his opinion that it would be delayed until Monday. Some time would be needed, he said, to submit the final draft of the call by telegraph to the members of the temporary committee on organization.

NONE IN MICHIGAN.

Lansing, Mich., July 4.—At a conference held late yesterday in the executive office, attended by Governor Chase S. Osborne, Senator William Alden Smith, Attorney General Kuhn and others, it was decided that there will be no third party in Michigan this year.

Oil King in List of Debtors of Bankrupt New York Concern.

New York, July 4.—John D. Rockefeller is named as debtor in the sum of 56 cents to the Pursell Manufacturing company, a confectionery and bakery concern which yesterday filed schedules in bankruptcy. The oil magnate is among a long list of the New Yorkers prominent in financial society and professional circles scheduled as indebted to the concern presumably for buns, cakes or candy, in sums ranging from ten cents to not over $40. Miss Helen Gould, according to the list owes 44 cents. Mrs. Patrick Campbell $3, Felix Adler 80 cents, John H. Flagler $1.97 and Thomas F. Ryan $15.35. More than 2,500 debtors were named in all.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Paris, Ill., July 4.—Lena Routledge, 26 years old, was killed yesterday by lightning at her home in Newman, Ill. Miss Routledge was returning to her home from the store where she was employed.

HOUSE CLEANING JOB IS TOO BIG

Lee Wants Third Party Instead of Renovation of Old One.

IT'S NOW UNDER WAY

Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—A third political party was launched in Indiana late yesterday, when 200 progressive republicans called from all over the state by Edwin M. Lee, former republican state chairman, adopted resolutions condemning the Chicago convention and declaring they would not abide by its acts. A motion was then carried providing for the placing of a ticket in every county, as well as a sate and presidential ticket. During the speeches Theodore Roosevelt's name was frequently cheered.

The conference effected a temporary organization by electing Edwin M. Lee state chairman, and Harvey B. Stout, jr., secretary. Mr. Lee was authorized to appoint an executive committee of one member from each of the congressional districts and to call a state convention as soon as possible.

W. D. Headrick, of Indianapolis, and G. K. Stimson, of Lafayette, were the leading opponents of the third party idea. Mr. Stimson was a member of the resolutions committee and brought in a minority report against the third party. Mr. Stimson said that while he was with the other members at heart, he believed they could win out by remaining within the republican party. His report was not put to a vote. Mr. Headrick expressed the same views, declaring the progressives could capture the republican state convention and "clean house."

Mr. Lee opposed the "house cleaning" on the ground that he house was too thickly populated "with thieves and thugs" and that the operation would be dangerous. He said "when a Dutchman is beaten once by unfair means he will not try it again. Mr. Taft's nomination was conceived in sin, passed in iniquity and every page of the records of the Chicago convention is covered with fraud."

While the resolutions which were presented by Harry Chamberlain, of Indianapolis, chairman of the committee, were being discussed J. V. Zartman, of this city, started a wave of enthusiasm by proposing that the word "republican," as used in connection with "progressives" in the resolutions be stricken out. Steven B. Boyer, of Logansport, declared he would strike the word "republican" from his vocabulary.

Joseph E. Henley, of Bloomington, counseled against the move. He said the delegates had been called together as progressive republicans and that it would be deceiving the people if "republican" was stricken from the resolutions. Chairman Lee also spoke against the plan and the motion was defeated.

It was decided to ask the national conference of progressives to meet in Indianapolis.

INTERURBAN CAR OVERTURNS.

One Killed and Several Injured at Whitcomb Heights, Ill.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 4.—Albert Lowery, 19 years old, of Martinsville, Ill., was instantly killed when an eastbound interurban car on the Paris-Terre Haute line turned over at Whitcomb Heights last night. Several passengers were injured, none dangerously. Traffic was tied up for five hours. The cause of the accident is not known. Among the injured were C. E. Smith, of Chicago, and Mr. Christman, of St. Marys-of-the-Woods, Ind.

TELEGRAMS COME IN GREAT FLOOD

Congratulations Pouring in Upon Governor Thomas R. Marshall.

WHAT NOMINEE SAYS

Indianapolis, July 4.—Telegrams of congratulations continue to pour in upon Governor Marshall, vice presidential nominee, in a great flood. Among them is a brief message from Champ Clark which says: "Dear Governor—Heartiest congratulations."

Telegrams are arriving at the governor's office in bunches of ten or a dozen at a time, and the democratic vice presidential nominee is having a hard time trying to read these between visits of his friends.

Expressing thanks to all his friends who aided in obtaining the vice presidential nomination for him, Governor Marshall gave the greatest credit among these to the "big four," Senators Shively and Kern, Thomas Taggart and Major G. V. Menzies.

Mrs. Marshall, Too.

It is settled that if the Governor goes out on campaigning tours, Mrs. Marshall also is to campaign with him. The governor says he has thought nothing as yet about plans for the campaign. He says he either will not campaign or if he does and cannot perform his duties as governor while campaigning, he will turn the governor's work over to Lieutenant Governor Hall.

If he feels at any time that his candidacy is a hindrance to Governor Wilson, he says, he will resign from the ticket.

"I was entirely satisfied and am now with the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson for the presidency," said Governor Marshall yesterday. "I meant what I said when I telegraphed him that my congratulations were wholehearted. I am too poor a man to do very much toward obtaining his election, but what I can do consistently with my duties to my wife and my creditors, I expect to do. I accept the nomination in the hope and with the belief that it will be entirely satisfactory to Governor Wilson and that it will be satisfactory to the democracy of the nation.

Position Highly Honorable.

"I do not look on the position of vice president as one in which there is the least opportunity in the world to save a dollar; perhaps one in which a man gets not even a living salary, yet I deem it to be highly honorable in its character. I have taken the nomination in the faith and hope that I may contribute somewhat to the election of a democratic president. If at any time, in judgment, I feel that my nomination is weakening the chances of Governor Wilson, I shall have no hesitancy in resigning from the ticket.

"I did not seek the nomination, nor did I seek the nomination for president. Nobody was ever used to support me. I am deeply grateful to the democrats of Indiana, particularly to the delegation, and more especially to the "big four," Senator Shively, Senator Kern, Mr. Taggart and Major Meinzies, for the loyalty and zeal with which they championed my cause, and a man would be an ingrate who would fail to have throughout life the kindest feelings and sentiments toward the democrats of Indiana.

"I know there was no chance of my nomination unless a break came, and Governor Wilson's forces were so well organized that no break came. I quietly permitted my name to go before the convention in the belief that it would prevent bitter discussion in Indiana on the relative merits of other candidates. I believe I have accomplished that purpose and, save here and there an isolated man, the democracy of Indiana is a united party, and will be found standing squarely at all times for equal and exact justice to all men and special privileges to no man.

Not Ambitious.

"It is past belief and hardly worth saying, but it is nevertheless true, that I am not an ambitious man, and I think that very lack of ambition has saved me from a good many temptations that might otherwise have arisen in this controversy. Public office has meant to me a public trust, not a private snap. I do not make this statement pharisaically, because ordinarily we want to watch the man who cries 'stop, thief,' but I make it in the light of my five years of public service, which, counting my one year of campaigning, puts me out of the governor's office $1,800 in debt.

"From a monetary standpoint, therefore, there has been nothing in it, but the time and money has been well spent if at the close of my official term, when the shouting and tumult shall have died away and the calm and dispassionate opinion of the people of Indiana shall have been given concerning my administration, they shall say 'he made us a fairly decent, respectable and honorable governor.' In the event of my election to the vice presidency, I can promise the people of America no different course of conduct than that which I have exhibited in the office of governor of Indiana."

Plan of Campaign.

Asked as to his plans for a campaign, the governor said:

"I shall stay here and attend to my duties as governor. If I can not attend to my duty as I see it, and make any sort of a campaign, I can do one of two things—I can go along without making any campaign, or I can put the lieutenant governor in office here. But that is all in the future, and I have not given it consideration.

In reply to a question as to what Mrs. Marshall thought of the nomination which had come to him, he said that she was "one of the most philosophical women in the world," and that he did not suppose two people ever lived together who had more of the feeling that "whatever happened was all right" than had Mrs. Marshall and he.

If he goes out on a campaign tour, says the governor, Mrs. Marshall will accompany him.

Immediately after the arrival of the governor at the state house yesterday, the word was passed through the building that he had arrived, and state house officials, deputies, clerks and stenographers, who were in the building at that hour, flocked in one bunch to the executive offices. In a short speech Governor Marshall thanked them for the loyal support they had given him.

GIRL IS WIRELESS PIONEER.

Holds Uncle Sam's Only Such Certificate to a Woman.

Washington, Pa., July 4.—Word has just been received here that Miss Mabel Kelso, a daughter of John Kelso, of Hickory, this county, and formerly stenographer for a Pittsburg concern, will sail soon from Seattle, Wash., for Alaska ports as a wireless operator aboard the steamship Mariposa, of the Alaska Steamship company. She is the only woman in the world holding a United States government wireless certificate. Miss Kelso has mastered the wireless subjects necessary, and the examining officer, Lieut. A. C. Call, U. S. N., stated that she had passed with the highest honors of any applicant who had appeared before him.

IN THE CHURCHES

THE CHURCH PICNICS.

Were Prominent in Celebration of Independance Day.

A characteristic of the observance of the Fourth of July in Fort Wayne this year is picnics, and prominent in the celebration of the day are church picnics, at least a half dozen of that character being held in the city today in the various groves of the suburbs and at the parks. Prominent among them are those held by the Trinity German Lutheran church in its grove grounds, and the Emmaus Lutheran church at Foster park. The latter is held in connection with the public observance of the opening of Foster park. Both of these picnics are largely attended.

The other church picnics were also well attended. Social features and out of door amusements of various kinds made the day enjoyable at all of them. They were picnics for the old and young alike.

Begins Duties Sunday.

Rev. Edward J. Freiburger, of Sheldon, was in the city today meeting his many friends and arranging for his departure to Decatur, where, as has been stated in The Sentinel, he assumes the assistant pastorate of the St. Mary's Catholic church. He enters on his duties there next Sunday. He is splendidly equipped for the holy calling and will be the means of accomplishing great good for the church.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

GETS POINTERS ON OILING STREETS

Col. D. N. Foster Visits Muncie and Talks About Our City Streets and Public Parks.

Muncie, Ind., July 4.—In an inspection of the methods of the park board and the city officials of the city of Muncie, D. N. Foster, of Fort Wayne, called at the office of the city clerk and carried away with him figures relating to the improvements being made in the city. The oiling of the streets seemed especially interesting to him. He says that in Fort Wayne they have as yet not gotten so far as to oil their streets.

"We have made the mistake in Fort Wayne," he said, "of waiting to build our streets until we can pave them with brick or asphalt. Instead of that I notice that you have macadamized them in the first place and are now enjoying them with the help of the oil."

By the figures in the office of the city clerk it was shown that at the present time nearly $1,500 had been paid into the treasury for the oiling of streets during the summer. Mr. Foster stated that as yet the only oiling they had done was in the parks.

Because of its adoption of the No. 1 city park board law, the city of Fort Wayne is far ahead of Muncie in the matter of her parks. They are at the present time making a deal in which they propose buying the river banks of the three rivers inside the city limits. Only a few days ago Mr. Foster and his brother contributed a straight stretch of four miles of wooded river bank along the St. Mary's river for park purposes.

"Upon the whole," Mr. Foster stated, "I am much impressed with the work Muncie has been doing in the matter of her street improvements." Mr. Foster is interested in the People's Trust company of this city.

NO PLAYGROUNDS EXTENSION.

There will be no extension of the public playgroundse of the city this year. The executive committee of the association, in meeting Wednesday evening, decided to try to adopt some plan in the future that will brink the playgrounds under the maintenance of either the park board, the city council or the school board. At present a few people are maintaining the playgrounds by private subscription.

Chicago & Erie Railroad Company Bringing Condemnation Suits at Decatur.

Decatur, Ind., July 4.—The Chicago and Erie Railroad company yesterday filed in the Adams circuit court a suit in which David E. Studabaker and William J. Vesey and John Niblick, trustees for Studabaker, are made defendants. The suit is a condemnation proceeding brought by the railroad company to secure right of way for their double track through the Studabaker farm just east of this city.

Dick Vesey, an attorney of Fort Wayne, appeared for the defendants and filed a waiver of summons and service. The matter was submitted to Judge Merryman in chambers, who appointed Henry Krick, French Quinn and B. W. Sholty as appraisers to assess the damage, if any, to the defendants real estate occasioned by the taking of the land necessary for their right of way.

For several days the railroad company's attorneys have been busy taking up right of way for the road and settlement has already been made with a majority of them.

The Most Spectacular Fourth in All History!

GEN. NELSON A. MILES WRITES A STIRRING STORY EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE SENTINEL, TELLING HOW A BLAZE OF REAL FIREWORKS MARKED THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS AT VICKSBURG AND GETTYSBURG.

By Nelson A. Miles.

(Lieutenant General, U. S. A., Retired.)

With the one exception—the original Fourth—that Fourth of '63 will be longest remembered. That day marked the turning point in the civil war—the fall of Vicksburg and the union victory at Gettysburg. The fireworks were real then; the loss of life on both sides was great.

After Chancellorsville, General Lee invaded Maryland and Pennsylvania. He hoped, by an offensive campaign, partly to relieve the confederate army in the west then being beseiged by Grant at Vicksburg, and also to threaten Washington, and to gain the great advantage a bold and successful offensive move always offers.

GEN. MILES.

His movement caused great consternation throughout the eastern states, and every effort was made to resist it. The confederate army had been increased by the addition of Longstreet's corps, and the success at Chancellorsville had inspired it with the greatest confidence.

The union army was maneuvered so as to protect Washington and Baltimore. General Hooker was relieved, and General Meade given command. The contending forces gradually approached each other near Chambersburg, Pa., and finally met on the field at Gettysburg.

After fighting a successful engagement on July 1st, Lee found himself confronted by the entire Army of the Potomac, holding a strong position on the heights above Gettysburg.

To attack was a desperate measure, but, inspired by the magnificent confidence of his army and by his recent victories, Lee resolved there to end his campaign in failure or to win the war by the complete overthrow of the union army.

For forty-eight hours the battle raged almost incessantly, but the union lines were held against all assaults. This battle was the Waterloo of the continent. It was the crisis and the turning point in the great tragedy. The north lost 23,000, the south 20,000 men.

The victory affected the perpetuity of the nation. In this great battle of Americans against Americans, their military genius, heroism and sacrifice were amply illustrated and will ever remain one of the glories of the military power and spirit of our people.

On the Fourth of July Lee retired his flanks and began a retreat to the Potomac, with Gregg's cavalry in pursuit. He fell back to Williamsport, where, after again offering battle, he crossed into Virginia on the night of the 14th.

Simultaneously with the campaign in the east, the armies in the west were contending against each other, principally in Tennessee and Mississippi. After the withdrawal of the confederates from Corinth, Grant advanced his army to Oxford, Miss., and sent Gen. W. T. Sherman by water from Memphis to carry by assault the works on Chickasaw Bluffs, which protected Vicksburg. Sherman landed and assaulted, and having lost heavily, withdrew above the mouth of the Yazoo river.

General Grant's campaign against Vicksburg was seriously interrupted by the activity of the confederate cavalry under Forrest, who raided Western Tennessee and cut the Mobile and Ohio railroad.

General Pemberton, commander of the confederate troops in the vicinity of Vicksburg, occupied an entrenched position on the high bluffs within a distance of eleven miles to the north and fifty miles to the south. After the fleet, under the command of Admiral Porter, had successfully passed by the batteries on the night of April 16, Grant's forces were thrown around the city, and Pemberton's army was isolated within a confined area.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnson ordered Pemberton to abandon Vicksburg, but the latter, having been intercepted at Champion Hill and defeated by Grant on the 16th of May, was forced back and eventually retired to the trenches at Vicksburg, closely followed by Grant, who assaulted the works on the 27th.

The assaulting column reached the parapets, but was unable to capture the works and General Grant decided to take the position by a regular siege. He opened parallels and pushed forward his approaches so that by July 1st his advance had reached the main line of defense. Seeing the impossibility of further resistance, General Pemberton surrendered, and Grant entered Vicksburg on July 4th.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, July 4.—Mrs. W. T. McGuire went to Fort Wayne Wednesday to visit her husband, who is a patient at the Lutheran hospital.

J. C. Culbertson and John Hole were in town Wednesday, and were busy helping unload a big Case traction engine and separator, which they have lately purchased.

Master Glen Yager has gone to Battle Creek, Mich., for a visit with his grandma, Mrs. Eli Munson.

Frank McGuire, of Van Wert, O., was an Antwerp visitor one day this week, the guest of his parents.

Miss Theresa Rising went to Monroeville one day the past week to visit her brother and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Boston, of Bucyrus, O., who came over in their auto and have been the guests of her parents out at "the old home farm" for several days, returned to their home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graves and children, of St. Petersburg, Fla., came Wednesday and will be the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, at this place, for several weeks.

Charles James Kemerer, who had been ill for several months, died at his home north of town July 1. He was a bright young man with a host of friends, and life was just dawning for him, his age being 20 years, 10 months and 20 days.

Mrs. O. S. Applegate went to Woodburn Wednesday, called there by the illness and death of Mrs. John Applegate of that place.

N. Harmon and wife were Fort Wayne visitors Wednesday.

Will Perry and wife were Fort Wayne callers Wednesday.

George Clemmer is now the owner of the machinery of the late Antwerp Argus, a deal having been made this week with James Rumbaugh, who took over the plant on a chattel mortgage some time ago. Mr. Rumbaugh gets in exchange for same a forty-acre farm in Michigan.

W. W. Horn, of Hicksville, was here a short time Wednesday on his way to Defiance. Mr. Horn is a pioneer resident, and has a vivid memory of the time when there was a corduroy road across the country to that burg from here, over which a two yoke of oxen would get stalled at certain periods of the year in hauling a box of matches.

Mrs. John Anspaugh left Wednesday for Sturgis, Mich., where she will be the guest of relatives for an extended visit.

WATERLOO'S NEW FACTORY.

Commercial Club Secures Location There of a Paint Plant.

Waterloo, Ind., July 4.—Waterloo has finally landed the paint plant that its Commercial club has been working to secure for a long time. The necessary papers were deposited in the Citizens' bank and the parties interested closed the deal and at once rented the Gruhlke property at the interurban station. The building rented is large enough to start the business. The proper machinery has also been ordered. C. W. Mansfield will be manager and Mr. Myers the superintendent and they will move their families to Waterloo at once. Both gentlemen have been connected with the Peerless Paint and Varnish company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and will bring with them skilled men who know all about the making of paint.

REUNION OF THIRTIETH.

Committee Decides on August 28 and 29 for the Reunion.

LaGrange, Ind., July 4.—Major N. N. Boydston, of Warsaw, and J. W. Armstrong, of Leesburg, visited LaGrange Tuesday and a meeting of the committee of arrangements for the annual reunion of the Thirtieth Indiana was held. The date for holding the reunion in LaGrange was fixed for Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 28 and 29. Auxiliary local committees for the holding of the reunion were named, and the committee on arrangements adjourned to meet again August 1. The Thirtieth reunion is always largely attended and doubtless this year will prove no exception.

MAN'S LEGS AND ARMS FOUND.

Workman Discovers Severed Limbs Floating in Abandoned Well.

Bloomington, Ill., July 4.—Diligent investigation by the authorities has failed to throw any light on the mystery associated with the discovery of the dismembered parts of a body on a farm near Lovington. Workmen had occasion to lift the boards covering an abandoned well and found an arm floating on the water. Further search disclosed another arm and two legs, evidently severed from the body with an ax. No trace has been found of the head and trunk. Physicians say the limbs, which were from a well-developed man, must have been in the water sixty days or longer.

GAY DECEIVER SUED.

Aged Former Alderman Defendant in Breach of Promise Suit.

New York, July 4.—At the age of 83 years former Alderman Samuel R. Myers, of Brooklyn, found himself today the defendant in a breach of promise suit. Six years ago he took a second wife, but Mrs. Charlotte Frances Law, a widow who says she is "about 50," declared that ten years ago Myers engaged to marry her, wrote her more than 300 letters and often renewed his promise up to 1906, when he married another person." Mrs. Law wants $30,000 damages for being jilted.

TRACTION MERGER WAR IS STILL ON

Judge Remster May Give a Decision Later in the Present Week.

SOME INDIANA NEWS

Indianapolis, July 4.—Argument in the receivership suit against the Indiana Union Traction company and the Union Traction Company of Indiana was heard by Judge Remster yesterday. He took his decision under advisement. The argument was, to a great extent, similar to that made April 24, when the question of an injunction to prevent the consolidation of the two companies was before the court. The plaintiffs went further, however, in that they contended there could be no legal merger because the law under which it was undertaken is unconstitutional and gives the defendants the right to take the plaintiffs' property away without just compensation. For that reason the plaintiffs ask the defendant's action toward the merger be set aside. The defendants contended that the merger has been completed and the court cannot interfere. Another contention was that the two old companies no longer exist and there is nothing of which a receiver could take charge.

Judge Remster may give a decision the last of this week.

Laporte, Ind., July 4.—An unidentified well-dressed man stepped in front of a Pere Marquette train near New Buffalo yesterday afternoon and was killed instantly. He had taken care to remove from his clothing any article or mark which might lead to his identification.

TWO MORE PARISHES AT GARY.

Gary, Ind., July 4.—As a result of the visit here of the Rt. Rev. Herman Alerding, Roman Catholic bishop of Fort Wayne, two more parishes will be established in Gary, making the total number nine.

The railway station at Leipsic, Germany, just completed, is said to have cost $34,000,000. The Pennsylvania terminal in New York city represents an outlay of $57,000,000. As Leipsic contains only half a million inhabitants against New York's nearly five million, it seems that economical Germany is doing pretty well in the matter of railway facilities.

Restores Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS,
Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

The Saner Patriotism.

There is occasion for especial gratification that the arrival of Independence day is now bringing each year a saner expression of the patriotic impulse that stirs every American heart to its depths on the recurrence of Uncle Sam's birthday. It is not to be understood that there has been a lessening of patriotism or a failure to comprehend the true spirit of the day. Indeed, the growing tendency toward the "sane" Fourth should have the effect of deepening American regard for Independence day, for it affords opportunity for quiet reflection upon the real significance of the day that is quite impossible under earlier conditions.

Today Fort Wayne is celebrating Independence day with but a fractional part of the danger and the nerve-racking noise that attended the old-fashioned celebration. The employing of fire crackers, torpedoes and similar devices handed down to us from the fathers as the proper accoutrements for patriotic jollification did not give rise for so grave objection until manufacturers began to pander to the taste for more noise, and louder noise and more dangerous noise. Comparatively harmless devices of our boyhood days gave way to monstrous cannon crackers and other high explosives that were a constant menace, and the result was a steadily increasing roster of accident and death.

But the people finally find themselves. It took a good many years and a frightful total of dead and injured to bring them to the conviction that deaths from lockjaw, sightless eyes and maimed bodies were not after all necessary as a testimonial of patriotic devotion to country. The crusade for the safe and sane Fourth has begun to make itself felt. Practically all the larger cities have legislated against the class of explosives that menace life and limb, and the result is plainly revealed in statistics of lowered casualty and lessened mortality in the celebration of the Fourth. The wonder is not that such a movement is here, but that it did not come years ago.

The newer view is that noise is not necessarily patriotism, and that one can pay proper homage to the day without endangering life and limb, either his own or somebody else's. It is not to be expected that the oratory which suffices for the adult will quite respond to the demand of girlhood and boyhood for life and action in celebration of the holiday. Fort Wayne is this year making its most pretentious effort to supply this substitute in the celebration at Foster park. There is a program which includes music and games and athletics and contests of various kinds. There is diversion provided to interest a wide variety of tastes and inclinations, and from it all has been removed so far as possible the maimings, the burnings, the killings and the lockjaw. May we not hope that in the interest of public safety the day will come when the dangerous explosive will have no part in the celebration of the Fourth, and when the anniversary of American independence will be commemorated in fetes and festivals that shall typify not the din of destructive war but the deeper and vastly more to be desired patriotism of peace.

MAINE'S OLD CAMPAIGN.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Maine, as everybody knows, holds its state election in September, and the political weather sharps always look to it for signs forecasting the national result in November. But this year, if the plans of the Maine republicans hold good, that sign may be of little significance. The state republican organization is for Taft, as are most of the candidates for the leading state offices, but the Roosevelt wave swept the state in June. The delegation joined the Roosevelt supporters who refused to vote at Chicago, but it also refused to bolt or consider going over into a third party. The democrats, it may be remembered, carried the state at the last election, and Maine is now represented in the senate by two democrats. The Maine republicans could not see any hope of regaining the state by fighting among themselves, so they have agreed upon the closest kind of harmony until the state election is over. Neither side is to mention the Chicago convention until after the September polling; they are to forget for the time being that Taft or Roosevelt ever exixsted, and devote their entire attention to uniting the party and beating the common enemy. If that can be accomplished they figure they will have a couple of months to devote to the presidential campaign undisturbed by state considerations.

It looks like a large contract, because the democrats will certainly insist on injecting Taft and Roosevelt into the state campaign in the hope of reviving animosities in the republican ranks. But if the republicans give their attention exclusively to state issues which are actually concerned and lay the national issues which are not involved aside until the proper time, they may be the better able to appeal to the intelligent voters. The divorce of state and national elections in that state makes it easier than anywhere else.

THE EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT.

Editor Sentinel:—One of the city papers says editorially that there is two sides to the Saturday closing movement. I beg to correct the statements from the workers' standpoint. It is not true that there are thousands of working people who are forced to do their trading on Saturday night. Nearly, if not all the shops and factories, close at noon on Saturday, giving their employes the whole afternoon in which to do their trading. As a matter of fact, it is the laboring class that are back of the early closing movement. The workers in the shops and factories sympathize with their fellow workers in the stores.

It is not the working people as a rule that trade on Saturday night. Visit any of the large stores on Saturday night and you will find that the great majority of the shoppers are people who have ample time to do their trading during the day, but have simply got the Saturday night habit.

The out of town people come to the city on Saturday night only on pleasure bent, as is evident to anyone who has occasion to take a late interurban car out of the city. The packages carried are not merchandise.

There is a moral side as well to this Saturday closing movement. It is not the fathers or the mothers who throng the streets, neither one has to stay at home to mind the children, for there are no children at home except those in arms. They are all down town walking the streets and looking at the bright lights and by their conduct giving Fort Wayne the name of being one of the toughest cities in the state.

In conclusion let me say that if the merchants do not worry about the loss of trade, no one else has any occasion to do so.

SATURDAY NIGHT WORKER.

A PROGRESSIVE VICTORY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The first duty of every honest man and newspaper toward the result at Baltimore is to recognize in the clearest and most specific manner possible that a great progressive victory has been won. At the outset the democratic convention, like the republican, was controlled by the interests and the machines. But the progressive elements, led by Mr. Bryan, appealed from the bosses to the people, and the result was to drive the delegates into support of Governor Wilson. What the nominee's claim to progressive leadership is, as well as his strength as a candidate, must appear as time goes on. For the present it is needful only to recognize that the democratic party has met the challenge by which the republican party failed at Chicago and has met it in a different and better way. The standpat leaders won at Chicago, but at Baltimore they were routed by as brave and brilliant an assault as ever stormed a fort or swept a bloody field.

In the light of this superb record how infinitely more stupid and iniquitous than ever before appears the denial of justice and progress at Chicago! What has been done at Baltimore could have been done there, if those who strove to scuttle the ship had tried half as hard to bring it safely into port.

FOURTH OF JULY TETANUS.

(New York Herald.)

In spite of the spread of the idea of "a safe and sane Fourth," some cases of tetanus as a consequence of injuries from fireworks that will become infected by street dirt will take place. Ten years ago there were more than 400 cases of Fourth of July tetanus in the United States. Last year there were only eighteen. Probably we shall have less this year, and no effort must be spared to make the deaths fewer.

A few years ago almost nine out of every ten tetanus patients died and three out of four was considered a very low mortality. Last year nearly one-half of the patients were saved. The mortality was 51 per cent. and a great many cases were prevented.

Street dirt often contains the tetanus bacillus, which is especially frequent in connection with horse droppings. This bacillus is anaerobic—that is, it will not grow in the presence of the air. The important measure of treatment, then, is to cleanse wounds very carefully, remove all foreign particles and incise freely if the tissues are seared by fire. If the bacillus does not get buried in the tissues away from the air there will be no tetanus. Where the burn is extensive or the wound deep or severe, tetanus anti-toxin is a great help.

If these precautions be faithfully taken they will reduce our death rate from Fourth of July tetanus even below the very satisfactory record of last year.

NEVER ANOTHER.

(New York World.)

Mr. Works, of California, is attempting as a senator of the United States to find out how much this year's so-called presidential primaries cost. No doubt millions of dollars were expended in the aggregate. No doubt a truthful statement of all the facts would reveal a national scandal. No doubt several candidates would be badly smirched.

A great deal more to the point at this time would be a bill providing for presidential primaries hereafter under national law, held simultaneously in every state and carrying provisions for publicity in the matter of expenditure and penalties for the misuse of money and patronage which would make everybody take notice.

There should never be another national convention half slave and half free.

FINED FOR STANDING STILL.

Los Angeles Autoists Pay for Violating Traffic Law.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—Increased cost of living was apparent in police court when a dozen automobile drivers appeared to answer charges of violating traffic laws by leaving their automobiles standing at the curb in the business district for a greater period of time than thirty minutes. As each of the auto owners appeared before the court and pleaded guilty to the charge he was assessed $3, which is just $2 higher than the price has been heretofore for the same offense. Justice Frederickson stated he believed there was entirely too much willful violating of the traffic ordinance by owners who hoped to elude the officers. He also stated that he would raise the fine, so that they would find the violation an expensive one. One exception was made by the court when Miss Mildred Frost, a daintily dressed young woman, explained to the court that she had driven in from Pasadena and was shopping in a Broadway department store and had overstayed her time just five minutes. Her fine was suspended.

SHIP OFFICERS WORK GRAFT.

San Francisco, July 3.—Graft on the part of trans-Pacific steamship officers is alleged in a transcript of testimony taken before Consul General Anderson, at Hongkong, and received here by United States Attorney John McNab. Quock Lim, a Chinese, testified that on January 9, 1911, twenty-seven stowaways were put on board the Manchuria to be smuggled into San Francisco.

For their passage $5,000 is said to have been paid for each woman, and $1,100 for each man.

The transcript contains evidence given by the witness of an organized opium ring operating on the ships. Quock said he was told by a mess boy that 42,050 tins of opium had been sent through on one ship.

LATEST IN DOLLS APPEARS.

Model With Spring Joints Can Rub Its Eyes.

London, July 4.—When buying a new doll one must now be careful that its clothes are not cut after the fashion of last season. Dolls have new kinds of boots, hats, frocks and jewelry, just as a fashionable woman has each year. The latest note in dolls' boots is seen on the new Schoenhut doll, whose lovely white kid boots are of the latest cut and are trimmed with tiny kid bullions. This is a wonderful doll, made entirely of wood, and with her hair dressed in the most up-to-date fashion for children. The joints are made of steel springs, and this dolly can kneel, stand, kick backward or forward, dance on one toe, rub its own eyes, wave its hand, put its hands together beseechingly, cross its legs in baby fashion when it sits down or pose in almost any way.

AN OLD RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Hamilton Dies After Illness of Several Years.

SIXTY YEARS OF AGE

Mrs. Sarah Hamilton, the wife of William J. Hamilton, a lifelong resident of Fort Wayne, died at 6 o'clock this morning at the family home, 414 Baker street, at the age of 60 years. Death followed an illness of several years from liver trouble.

Mrs. Hamilton was born and reared in Fort Wayne and had never resided elsewhere. She was a charter member of Queen Esther Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., and was an active worker in the congregation of the First Baptist church. She was a woman of beautiful character and scores of friends mourn her death.

Surviving she leaves the husband and the following children: Mrs. G. W. Sowers, of Bellevue, O.; Mrs. H. Lehr and Mrs. Jane Bouse, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. A. Bottenberg, of Cedarville. There are also two brothers, Robert and Charles Dalman, of this city.

Wood—Funeral services for Adoniram J. Wood Friday morning at 5:30 o'clock from the residence, 435 Buchanan street. The remains will be shipped to Willshire, O., at 6:30 o'clock over the G. R. & I. railroad.

LACKAWANNA TRAINS IN REAR-END CRASH

Work of Identification Slow.

The death list probably will run over forty. Thirty-four bodies had been taken from the debris at 9 o'clock this morning.

The work of identification progressed slowly. Among the first identified were: Antonio Nova, Carteret, N. J.; Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, Brooklyn, N. Y.; William A. Armstrong, Hoboken, N. J.; Mrs. Lucy Settonucati, aged 60, New York city.

As soon as the news of the wreck spread hundreds of automobiles dashed to the scene, blocking the roadways and interfering with the removal of the dead and injured. A detail of police was sent from the city to keep the roads open and keep the crowds back from the wreckage.

Among the killed are several babies, or young children.

Freight Train Stalled.

The passenger train had been brought to a standstill by a freight train which had become stalled. One of the two engines of the passenger train was uncoupled and attached to the freight train to put it on the siding. Conductor Staples, of the passenger train, says he caused the blocks to be set against any westbound train.

Passenger Describes It.

"The train had been standing about twenty minutes when there came an awful crash, which pitched me forward against the front of the dressing room," said A. D. Ingram, of Chicago, one of the Pullman passengers. "A second later there seemed to come a series of jolts and then the engine of the express train came to a full stop. There was an awful grinding and crunching, and then a great crash as the day coaches were pitched into the ditch. Then came the screams of passengers who found themselves pinned in the wreckage."

STOPPED FOR A FREIGHT.

Express Entered Block Close Behind Passenger Train.

Scranton, Pa., July 4.—Information received at the Lackawanna offices is that train No. 9 had stopped at Corning freight station to allow a freight train ahead to take a siding when the express train smashed into it at almost full speed. It is believed by officials here that it was impossible to get out a flagman in time to prevent the crash, the express having entered the block close behind the passenger train. Nearly all the cars in both trains were wrecked and thrown across the tracks.

LONG LIFE AND OPEN AIR.

"The Dorchester Athlete," Aged 99, Gives Rules for Longevity.

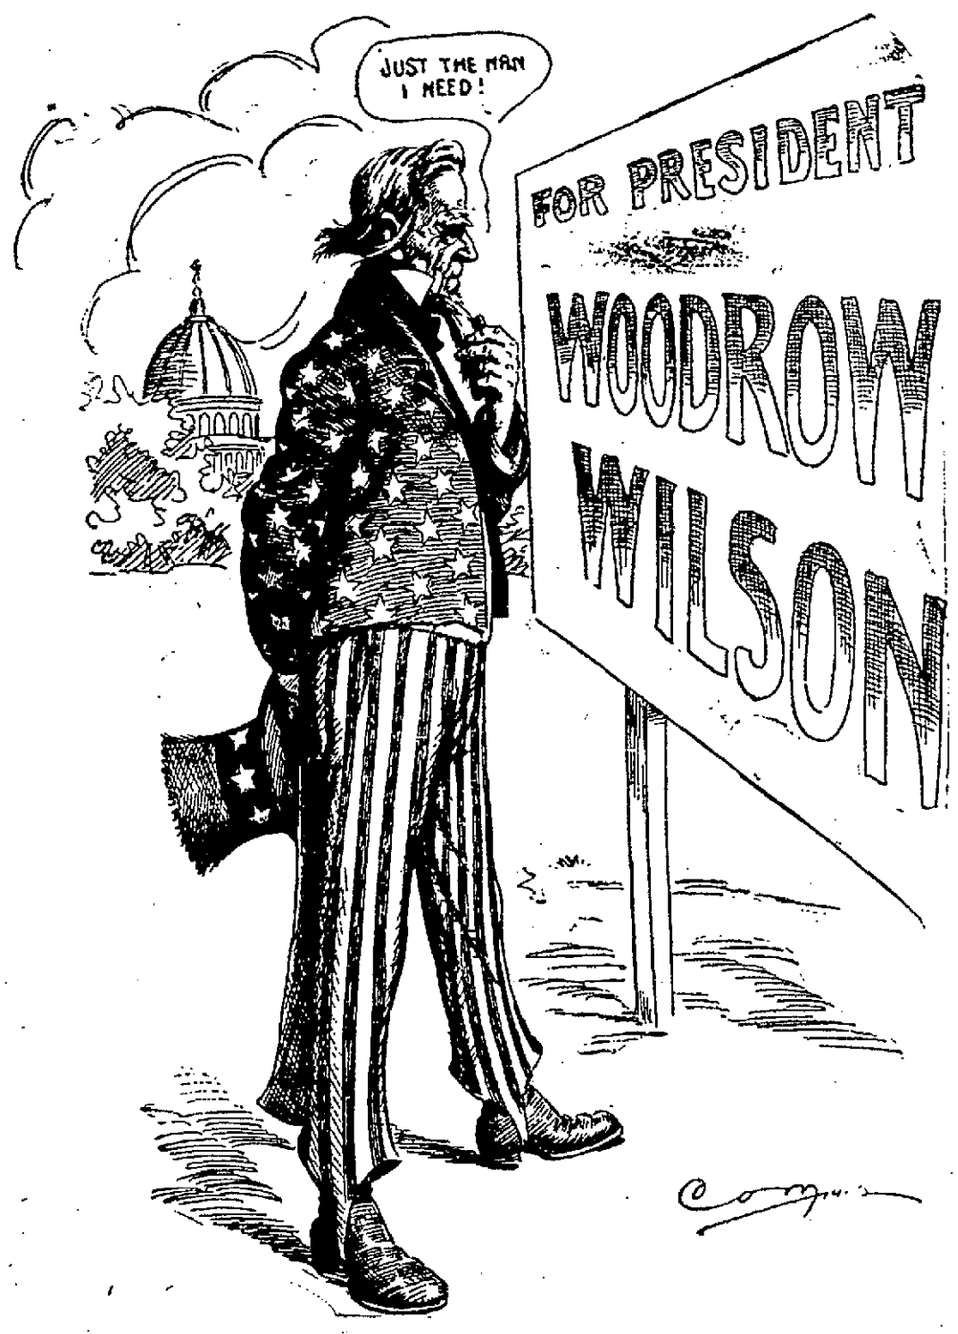
Boston, July 4.—To his life in the open air Ralph Butler, who is 99 years old, attributes his rugged health. He is known as "the Dorchester athlete," because of his sound physical condition and unusual activity.

"Get out in the open air, leave liquor and tobacco alone and keep regular habits and you will live to a ripe old age," said Mr. Butler.

"Go to bed early and also get up early is another rule to follow if you went to live to an advanced age. Take a long walk every day, no matter what the weather is, and you will find the walk will do you a world of good."

Mr. Butler was born at Farmington, Maine, in 1813. He recently received autographed copies of recent books by the Rev. Minot J. Savage and the Rev. Robert Collyer, both former Dorchester [illegible]

UNCLE'S PICK OF THE DEMOCRATS.



JIM FLYNN SENT TO COUNTY JAIL

Was Arrested on Charge of Drunkenness and Unable to Pay Fine.

DIDN'T HAVE THE COIN

Jim Flynn was sent to the county jail for fifteen days from the city court today because he could not raise $15 to pay a fine of $5 and costs assessed against him.

This is not the Pueblo fireman who has a little argument on with one J. Johnson at Las Vegas this afternoon, but just a plain drunk who gave the name when he was arrested last night and who may have assumed it for the occasion.

Besides Flynn, Louis Waller, William Galbraith and Claude Clark each drew $5 for intoxication and James Hahn was let go. John Lee went over for thirty-five days for intoxication and Tom Jones, charged with assault and battery, got a continuance until tomorrow.

Victor Vroman, charged with stealing an automobile which he smashed up on the Leesburg road yesterday, was held under a bond of $500 until July 10.

LAS VEGAS SCENE IS ANIMATED ONE

There were no heated debates on the street corners.

There was a marked difference in the way the fighters spent the last hours before the battle. Johnson devoted last evening to the Unholz-Yokum fight, in the arena of which he was to meet Flynn. He occupied a front seat at the ringside and sat in bored silence while the little fighters pulled and hauled about through the twent rounds. From the ringside Johnson drove his training staff back to his camp in his automobile and went straight to bed. Today's fight apparently was not in his mind.

Flynn paid his first visit in several days to the town last night. He came clad in a brilliant red sweater, which showed to advantage the lines of his huge chest and powerful shoulders. As he marched about the hotel porch, his ruddy, sunburned face and springy step, indicating perfect health, he was followed by a mob of fight fans. His stay was short, however, and before darkness he was back in his quarters, six miles away, and visitors were discouraged. While the exact weight of the men will not be recorded until just before the fight, Johnson probably will tip the beam at 212 pounds and Flynn at 190 or thereabouts.

A final "drying out" process was the order of business in the morning at both camps. The men expected to rid themselves of a pound or so of excess weight. Perfect weather, with clear skies and a light, cool breeze sweeping the mesa just out of town, where the arena stood within its canvas walls.

The canvas, which was placed in double walls ten feet apart to shut off the view of those not provided with box office credentials, stood about ten feet high, leaving plenty of space for the breeze to dip into the enclosure itself. The seats ranged back from the ring on a very gradual slope, the last row of bleachers being about on a level with the ring, while the first row was all but on the ground behind "newspaper row." Promoter Jack Curley had lost the strained look of the last few days.

ALL FORT WAYNE OBSERVES FOURTH

the end of the South Broadway street car line to furnish light for those going to the park.

Other Points Attractive.

Other points about the city where Fourth of July gatherings are held also proved attractive to the throngs. Thousands went to Robison park, where Manager Williams has provided a big program, and many picnics held about the city also drew heavily.

Afternoon Program.

With fair weather, an interesting program beginning at 2 o'clock with a band concert, will mark the formal dedication of the beautiful Foster park. A large platform has been constructed from which the exercises will be held, with W. H. Shambaugh acting as chairman. The park will be accepted from the Messrs. Foster by Hon. Charles H. Worden, president of the Fort Wayne Civic Improvement association. Mr. Worden will deliver an appropriate address, telling of the steps leading up to the present enthusiasm over the beautification of Fort Wayne. The civic improvement movement, which led the Fosters to make the generous gift to the city, will be described in detail, and Mr. Worden will close by presenting the park to the city.

Acting for Mayor Jesese Grice, City Attorney Harry G. Hogan will accept the park and will in turn present it to Prof. Louis Dorn, of the board of park commissioners. In an address, Professor Dorn will give the park to the people of Fort Wayne, instructing them to use it and take advantage of the pleasure it offers.

Following the dedicatory exercises, a daylight fireworks display will be given, the first of its kind ever attempted in Fort Wayne. This part of the program will be especially for the children.

The athletic events will begin at 3:30 o'clock. A large number of entries have been listed by the commitee on athletics. The contests are open for all who desire to enter.

Fireworks at Night.

One of the most costly and beautiful fireworks displays ever given in Fort Wayne will begin shortly after twilight. The committee in charge has worked for many weeks soliciting funds and completing arrangements for the display, and all is now in readiness for the exhibition. Keeping in mind the safety of the visitors, the committee has arranged for the display to be given in one of the groves near the park entrance, in view of all, yet at such a spot that all will be out of danger from the high explosives. An expert from the factory where the goods were manufactured will have charge, and five wagon loads of all sorts of modern and costly fireworks will be sent skyward.

REFUSE TO HONOR BAD INDIAN.

Residents Object to Kansas Town Being Named Satanta.

Topeka, Kan., July 3.—So much opposition has sprung up in Southwestern Kansas against naming the new division point on the Santa Fe cutoff after the old Indiana murderer Satanta, that the name is to be abandoned and another one of some good Indian chosen. Satanta was a chief of the Kiowas and one of the crookedest and craftiest of his time.

He had one of the largest collection of scalps of any Indian in the southwest, and most of them were obtained by means of cold-blooded murder. Satanta's general rule was to appear friendly to white men until he could surprise them and then kill them without mercy.

Possibly the name of Satank, another chief, who was always a friend of the whites, will be chosen. Satank aided the white men in many ways and in council his voice always was against violence.

FOLLY TO SEEK GARDEN OF EDEN

Chicago Professor Says the Site Will Never Be Found.

VIEWS VARY WIDELY

Chicago, July 4.—All persons who may be looking for the original home of Adam and Eve are notified to desist by Professor Edward Robertson in an article on "Where Was Eden?" in the current number of the American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures issued yesterday at the University of Chicago. The scholar asserts that the attempt to locate the paradise described in the book of Genesis is "folly."

According to Professor Robertson, the site of Eden will forever remain an unsettled problem, owing to the conflicts, misrepresentations and editorial revision of the biblical accounts. He denies the claims of critics who have placed the garden variously in Armenia, in Babylonia, in Arabia, in the Palestinian Negeb, near Damascus, near Kashmir, near the Altai mountains, on the mountains above Pamir, in Somailland, in Australia, at the north pole or in the starry heavens.

A Composite Document.

Professor Robertson advances the theory that the section of Genesis containing the account of the garden is not the work of one hand but a composite document. He describes the Eden seen after the compilation of the documents as "artificial" and impossible of location because of the faulty geographical directions given.

The "real" Eden as treated in one of the documents called "the paradise story proper," is not intended to have definite bounds, Professor Robertson declares. Of this narrative he asserts:

"It is evident that the whole narrative is a figure of speech enshrining the doctrine of an irresponsible and sinless state in which man was created, whence he passed into one responsible and sinful. From what we can gather there appears to have been no definite location of the garden in the mind of the narrator. His pleasure garden is an ideal locality."

Creation of Woman.

He intimates that the tradition of the creation of woman in Eden may be the result of corruption of the text. Of the efforts of early editors to weld the different documents he declares:

"By arranging the texts suitably it might be made to appear that woman was created after man was put into the garden. The same, too, with the beasts of the field. Thus it comes about that the creation of woman and of the beasts of the field is made to appear as a work performed by the Lord God within the garden, while the language used, as can readily be observed, conveys not the slightest hint that such was really the case."

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Evansville, Ind., July 4.—William Carroll, of Paducah, Ky., mate of the steamer Lida, was found guilty last night of manslaughter for shooting and killing Captain W. T. Howell, of the steamer Kenois at the local wharf May 3. The trial lasted a week. Howell, who was a brother of Lee Howell, division general freight agent of the L. & N., was shot in the presence of his wife and ten year old son. The boy secured the father's revolver and tried to kill Carroll. The slayer is of a prominent Paducah family. His wife collapsed on the verdict when it was rendered.

YOUTH HAS FUN BY WIRELESS 'PHONE

Exhibits Uncanny Invention Transmitting Voices Through Space.

SENDS "TRAUMEREI"

New York, July 3.—The first successful wireless telephone, an apparatus constructed to send the human voice and the voice of music through miles of space without the aid of wires, was exhibited here by Dr. L. L. B. Goldman and twenty-two-year-old Elman B. Myers, the inventors.

At his receiving station on the top floor of the Chepstow apartment house, at Tenth street and Broadway, Myers received the reporter.

The young inventor turned a few knobs on top of a black box about two feet in height and three feet in length. Then he placed the receivers to the reporter's ears. The beautiful notes of "Traumerei" came across the space in mysterious waves. It was eerie, disconcerting. It seemed so impossible. Perhaps a phonograph was concealed in the black box, but no, for through the air came:

"The reporter is now listening to messages and music over the first successful wireless telephone."

It was the voice of Myers' father from the receiving station at Nineteenth street and Broadway. The boy disconnected the wire leading from the box to the aerials on the roof. The music and voice ceased. Young Myers turned a knob on the box. Sharp snaps greeted the ears.

"That's the Brooklyn navy yard's wireless," remarked Myers.

As he continued to turn the knobs—tuning up—other wireless stations could be heard as they shot their messages through the ether.

"I can pick them all up with my receiving aparatus," said Myers, "and I can shut them all out. 'Statics' have no terrors for me."

"Statics" are electrical disturbances that are the bane of the wireless operator's existence. Myers has solved the "static" problem, he says. He can attune his sending and receiving apparatus so that the mightiest electrical storms have not the slightest effect on his invention, he declares.

For several weeks Myers has been giving the spinal shivers to lonely wireless operators sitting in their closetlike compartments aboard ships at sea and in towers ashore. They have been greeted with conversations, snatches of songs and musical pieces rendered by a phonograph.

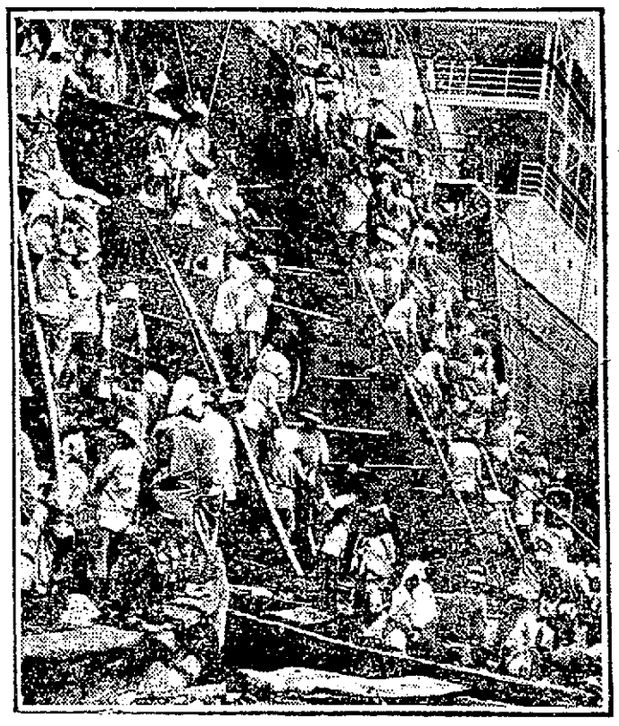
GROUND DOWN BY TAXES, JAPANESE TALKING REVOLUTION.



WOMEN COALING A VESSEL IN JAPANESE PORT—HUNDREDS CARRY THE COAL TO THE SHIP IN LITLLE BASKETS.

Tokyo, Japan, July 3.—Economic pressure has become so severe in Japan that, according to the latest official figures, 191,000 out of Tokyo's 752,000 little and big girls and grown women are compelled to work for their living outside their own homes.

For the rest of Japan the figures are less complete than those of the capital, but it is estimated that throughout the country 30 per cent. of the workers are girls or women.

In Japan woman's work is not limited to domestic service, dressmaking, clerical work and teaching. Women do also the heaviest manual labor, like coal-heaving, freight-handling and farm work.

Japanese labor leaders say the burden of direct and indirect taxation is so dreadful that the average Japanese workingman cannot support a family—the family must support itself.

The Japanese government's policy is to make the world believe the Japanese masses are exuberantly patriotic and enthusiastically loyal to the mikado. It is admitted that they are very poor, but the theory is advanced that they are a simple people who do not mind poverty.

The truth is that the masses are bitterly discontented. Socialism is spreading among them. Labor troubles are becoming more and more frequent, and more and more serious. Agitators are pointing to the revolutionary example of the Chinese as a good example for the Japanese to follow.

The Japanese government seems determined to combat these developments by refusing resolutely to acknowledge them.

TAMMANY LEADERS PLEASED.

Say Wilson and Marshall Promise Success All Along Line.

New York, July 4.—Charles F. Murphy, Unitew States Senator O'Gorman and a number of Tammany leaders and delegates arrived from Baltimore late yesterday wearied from the hard work in Baltimore, but all expressing elation over the outcome.

"It is a great ticket and one that I am sure promises success all along the line," said Mr. Murphy as he alighted from the train. "The candidates should command the support of the people in every section."

Senator O'Gorman said Wilson and Marshall would receive a "majority of the votes of the independent voters of the country. He declared that notwithstanding the sharp rivalry between candidates and their friends, there never was an instance of such harmony. "When we adjourned," he said, "there was nothing but a feeling of confidence in victory next November."

SUMMER KITCHEN BURNED.

The summer kitchen on the residence of Mrs. Sophia Ostermeyer, 2505 Smith street, caught fire at 2 o'clock this morning and was damaged to the extent of $100.

DR. WILEY FOR WILSON.

Washington, July 4.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture last night announced that he had quit the republican party and would support the presidential ticket this year. Dr. Wiley made this known at a meeting which organized the Wilson-Marshall democratic club of the District of Columbia.

Society

Forty young women enjoyed themselves greatly last evening as the guests of Mrs. Ida Overmeyer at her home on the Bluffton road. The company was invited to supper and long tables in the big dining room of the orphans' home spread with such substantials as cold meat, salads, hot rolls and baked beans all deliciously prepared, was as inviting a sight as a company of hungry women and girls could sit down to. Vases of red roses decorated the table and many gay poppies from the flower beds of the home brightened the long living room. It was a lively party and everyone gained a new idea of the home and its needs in addition to her own individual pleasure and appreciation of her hostess' hospitality. After supper there was a visit with the smallest children of the home and then Miss Anna Philley delighted everyone with a number of recitations, the most of them humorous and adapted to the occasion. After that there was singing and a little dancing and more visiting, so that the hour of going home came round entirely too soon. The guests were employes of the Wolf & Dessauer store.

Macy—Kelly.

A wedding that is a surprise to the many friends of the bride because of its unexpectedness just at present, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kelly, of Fairfield avenue, in the marriage of Miss Helen Kelly to Mr. John Macy, of Winchester. The friends of the bride had been expecting a public announcement of the engagement, but the young people decided yesterday that they preferred to dispense with the usual accompaniments of a wedding and have the marriage as quiet as possible, instead of during the month of November, as first planned. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Master, in the presence of the immediate relatives, at half past 8 o'clock, and the bride and groom left at a later hour for a two weeks' wedding trip to eastern points. For traveling the bride wore a dark blue suit with linen collar and cuffs and a blue hat. The bride is one of the prettiest and most attractive young women in the city and a great favorite in society. Mr. Macy is an attorney and is the son of Judge Macy, of Winchester. He is very highly regarded and has a lucrative practice. Mr. and Mrs. Macy will make their home in Winchester.

Miss Helen Medsker left yesterday to spend the Fourth with Miss Pearl King, of Ossian. Tomorrow both young ladies are going to Sidney, Ohio, to join a house party of girls for a four weeks' stay at Taylor lake.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. White and son, William; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Olds and nephew, Billy Carnahan, and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Olds and daughter, Miss Maribel Olds, are at Lake Wawasee for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Reul and daughters have returned from an automobile trip of nearly three weeks' time, during which they visited Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati and Madison.

Mrs. Will Lindenberg gave a picnic at Robison park on Tuesday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Florence Boyd, of New York. There were a dozen young women in the party. After the supper the guests enjoyed dancing in the pavilion.

Miss Irma Poole is entertaining friends at a house party at the Poole Rome City cottage today. Miss Poole's guests are Misses Virginia Olds, Helen and Ruth Caldwell, Dorothy White, Helen Magee and Messrs. Eugene Hattersley, Marshall McKay, Charles and Marshall Worden, Charles Pask, Maurice Lohman and Herbert Miller.

Miss Gladys Brouwer was given an agreeable surprise on Tuesday evening when she returned home after a short absence and found a company of friends present who had come with remembrances to remind her of the sixteenth anniversary of her birth. After the astonishment of the hostess had worn off everyone started in for a good time. Music and games were all enjoyed. Miss York won a prize in a flower contest. The guests were Misses Lillie Mooney, Elizabeth York, Hattie Flaig, Ruth Johnston, Frances Houk, Edna Koehlinger, Mary Harkenrider, Martha Kyle, Mabel and Helen Norton, Miss Nora Mooney, of Roanoke, and Messrs. August Brouwer, of Monroeville; William Mooney, Clarence Grodrian, Paul and Byrd Harrod, Frank Shannen, Glenn, Frank and Walter Brouwer, Mr. and Mrs. A. Grodrian and Mrs. R. Grodrian.

WHEN YOU DINE "SIMPLY" WITH MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT—A PERILOUS TRIP TO THE LUXURIOUS LAIR OF ONE OF RIGOROUS RICH.

(By Anita Morris.)

When you dine "simply" with Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, famous American suffragist and millionaire's wife, the following is what happens to you—in part:

You drive up to her great stone residence in one of her eighteen machines, which she has sent for you, and you make a mistake at the very start. The footman, who scents one of those machines afar, is on hand to open the door for you. But you don't pay any attention at all, and you issue an order to the chauffeur.

Of course, as everybody living in an American palace knows, this is very wrong. One never issues an order to the chauffeur direct, but to the footman, who in turn gives it to the chauffeur. If you are descending from the house, where servants abound, you give it to the third one in from the door, who passes it along, until in the course of human events, it reaches the chauffeur.

The mistake of which you are guilty might precipitate war in Mrs. Belmont's household, leading to the retirement of the footman overlooked. But this one is a large-minded footman, and has been long in her employ, and that saves the situation.

When you arrive at the top of the long flight of steps, you are greeted by some one you might mistake for that personage of the recent successful drama, "The Servant in the House." He is a butler, oriental, chocolate colored, and he wears his native turban and bright-colored costumes. When he receives you, you want to exclaim in the words of that drama, "Who are you?" And you anticipate the reply, "I am the servant in this house, and I must be about my business." The business of that servant of the drama, you recall, is to convert, to reform the evil ways of everybody who crosses his path. You feel quite sure that you will presently be converted. But you are merely served presently with some oriental dishes that nobody else in the world makes so "tastily" as he.

At the table you are affronted with knives, forks and spoons that would indicate a thousand courses. You feel at your back a servant, your servant, to serve you personally, and nobody else. You are so appalled that you forget whether to begin with the outer boundary of knives, forks and spoons, and work your way in, or whether you begin in and work out. The situation is serious.

You behold wine glass after wine glass and remember that your doctor prescribes milk. Mrs. Belmont talks about her farm at Newport—fancy a farm at Newport, where corner lots retail at a million dollars a look. She tells about her herd of 500 cows and the beautiful yield of cream. But your servant, who is to see that you are provided with the very cream of everything in the way of rare delicacies that this country and the others can provide, does not serve you with any of it, and you dare not ask. You dare not quote your doctor's mandate. Nobody quotes anybody else's mandates to Mrs. Belmont. She and her household abide only by her own.

There is at the carving table a servant who carves. There issues from the butler's pantry from time to time a servant bearing dishes to the servant who serves you. There are only you and she for dinner when she dines thus "simply," but the servants by inaccurate and cursory count who appear during the first five or six courses are nine.

By the time the third course is completed, you have had quite enough and are eager to go on a tour of inspection. But when dining "simply," you do not leave Mrs. Belmont's table in less than two hours and a half.

Congratulating yourself on getting away with a fair showing of every course, including fixings which go with the game, fish, soup and anchovy, you feel fairly confident of being able to do credit to a light salad. Then along comes a platter and a brand new servant behind it, laden with breasts of wild duck, sufficient in themselves for a dinner! You take your breast and muss it up. Then you reflect a moment, while the salad is removed and the oriental ice cream is brought forth, on the futility of fortunes colossally vast. How irksome it must be to be always thinking up ways to get away with an income so big it is unwieldy. You take stock of some of the conversation during the dinner, the disappointments therein indicated and the wishes unfulfilled. And you say to yourself: "Is it really such a very fine thing to be so awfully, awfully rich?"

HUSBAND HELD NOT LIABLE.

Wife Is Responsible for Her Own Business Affairs.

Trenton, N. J., July 4.—On the ground that a husband is not liable for damage for an accident growing out of a business conducted by his wife or arising from the management by her of her separate property, the court of errors and appeals affirmed the judgment in favor of Joshua Jagmetty and Susan A. Jagmetty, his wife, in the suit brought against them by Harry W. Harrington and Anna Harrington, his wife. Mrs. Harrington fell and fractured her leg in two places and sustained other injuries in the Elmont hotel at Atlantic City, conducted by Mrs. Jagmutty. The suit brought by Mrs. Harrington was for injuries sustained and that of her husband for loss sustained by him thereby.

STREET CAR DYNAMITED.

Passengers Thrown Into Panic at Boston But Escape Injury.

Boston, Mass., July 4.—Ninety passengers on a surface car of the Boston elevated railway system were thrown into a panic last night when the car exploded a stick of dynamite which it is believed strike sympathizers had placed on the track. Windows were shattered and a portion of the flooring at the front end of the car was ripped up but no one was injured. During the evening cars in different sections of the city were stoned and the service interfered with to some extent.

In the Kitchen and the Pantry.

Pineapples are a delicious and refreshing breakfast fruit. Ham toast is nourishing and offers an attractive way to serve any remaining pieces of cold ham you may have in the refrigerator. Baked eggs might be added to the morning menu, especially if it is served later, when hunger demands a more elaborate service.

Pineapples and Cherries.
Ham Toast. Baked Eggs.
Wheat Muffins.
Coffee.

Pineapple and Cherries.

The pineapples now in the market are not of such melting, delicious flavor as those that come later, but they make a very acceptable addition to one's dietary at this season.

An attractive way to serve them for breakfast is to slice them thin or pull the tender pulp off in good-sized pieces; sugar well and heap up in a glass dish, scattering sweet red and white cherries among them. The cherries should be pitted and sugared, all the fruit thoroughly chilled over night. If you prefer, you can cook the cherries in a little sugar syrup and chill them. Pour the syrup over the whole when fruit is arranged in the glass dish

Ham Toast.

A nice way to use the remnants of a boiled ham is to make ham toast. Grind or chop enough ham to fill a cup, using some of the fat, as that improves the flavor. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and add a tablespoonful of flour. As soon as blended add a cup and a third of sweet milk. Let this thicken slightly, then add ham and the whites of two hard boiled eggs which have been mashed with a fork. Season with pepper and a little salt. Pour over round slices of toast which have been placed on a platter. Take the yolks of the eggs and put through a potato ricer and sprinkle over the top of the toast. Garnish with parsley. Chicken, oyster or the remnants of a fresh ham may be used instead of the smoked ham.

Baked Eggs.

Butter a smooth saucepan, break as many eggs as will be needed into a saucer, one by one; if found good, slip each into the saucepan. No broken yolks must be allowed, nor must they crowd so as to risk breaking the yolk after put in. Put a small piece of butter on each, sprinkle with pepper and salt. Set into a well-heated oven, bake till the whites are set. If the oven is rightly heated it will take but a few minutes, and the cooking will be far more delicate than fried eggs.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 4.—For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Unsettled weather, with local thunder showers tonight or Friday.

GENERAL FORECAST.

Washington, July 4.—For Ohio and Indiana: Unsettled weather, with showers tonight or Friday; somewhat cooler in north portion tonight.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Since Saturday morning local showers have occurred over the lake region and the Ohio valley, the rainfall being heavy in some localities; rain was reported this morning from South Bend, Indianapolis, Evansville and Louisville, South Bend reporting .82 of an inch, while Evansville reported an excessive rainfall of 2.18 inches during the last twenty-four hours. In the northwest conditions remain unsettled, with local showers throughout the upper Mississippi and the middle and upper Missouri valleys.

While moderately warm weather prevails over nearly all sections of the country east of the Rockies, temperatures yesterday ranged from 80 to 90 degrees at most stations, with very few stations reporting temperatures in excess of 80 degrees.

Unsettled conditions will continue in this section, with probably local showers tonight or Friday; the temperature changes will be slight.

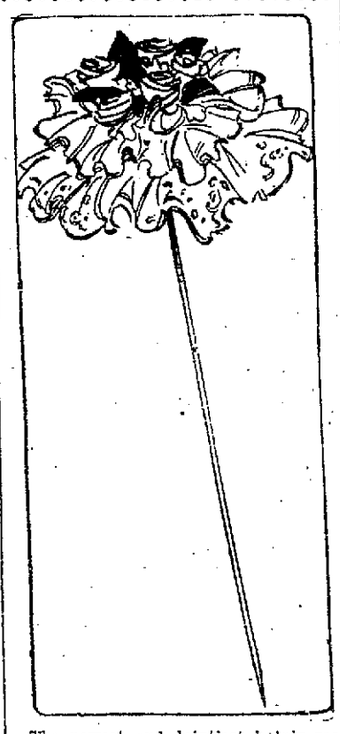
Newest Hatpin is Easy to Make at Home.



The newest and daintiest hatpin seen this summer can be easily made at home. First, take a large button mold and draw a plain hat pin through it; cover with white silk and sew around in rosette form Valenciennes lace. Then procure some tiny cloth flowers—violets, small roses or other blossoms—and put in, all through the rosette.

These rosettes can be made as large as one wishes and two of these hatpins will be all that is needed to trim a hat. A fine close hat of hemp braid in green with rosette hatpins will give the summer girl a very pretty and inexpensive hat.

PATIENTS SAFELY REMOVED.

Four Hundred Women Carried From Hospital as Fire Menaces.

New York, July 4.—While fire was eating its way down from the top floor of the Pathological institute, a hospital and library building on Ward's island in the East river late last night, over 400 women patients were safely removed from the structure. Excellent discipline was maintained and no one was injured. The three-story brick building was destroyed.

More than 4,000 patients in other hospital buildings on the island were kept from alarm by assurances that the fire was a slight one.

GARDEN PARTIES.

For garden party wear, of course, the feathered and flowered hat is the smartest finish to a pretty dress, and millinery this year has reached a point of attractiveness which is satisfying beyond all anticipatory hopes.

The grace of the line of the larger hats and the chic and charm of the little close fitting favorites are in perfect form, and have that completeness and finish in design and construction which has not always been achieved in the creation of headgear in the past.

WITH PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

Baptist Young People's Union Opens Convention at Toledo.

Toledo, July 4.—A patriotic service, occupying the morning session, was the principal feature of the first day's session of the international convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of the United States and Canada, which opened here today. Rev. Russell H. Conwell, of Philadelphia, delivered the address at this meeting. The board of managers' report contained the recommendation that workers in various sections of the international field may undertake work independently of the international committee as may seem necessary for the advancement of their specific needs, but this work need not interfere with the international fellowship.

The Glorious Fourth

By BERTON BRALEY

How many arms and legs and eyes,
How many lives shall we sacrifice,
How many strong young girls and boys
Shall we cripple and maim for the sake of noise?
How many parents' hearts shall break
At their children marred for "our country's sake?"
Wht shall be the toll this year
For the "glorious Fourth" we hold so dear?

Shall we celebrate the sturdy fight
Which our fathers made for the truth and right,
By giving our children dynamite?
Dynamite and powder and fuse,
Dangerous toys for "kids" to use?
Shall we let them play as they lightly please,
With things of danger and death like these?
Tempting the chance of a cruel fate
For the sake of the "day we celebrate?"

Or shall we save their health and youth
For the cause of freedom and right and truth?
Take from their hands the things that maim,
But set their hearts and their eyes aflame
With thoughts of the "land of liberty,"
And make them struggle to keep it free.
Shall we make their loyalty a joke
Of noise, and clamor and bombs and smoke;
Or strive in their childish minds to fix
The unquenched spirit of '76?

FARMERS DEMAND IMPROVED ROADS

Government Heeding Them But Autoists Began the Cry.

BUSINESS IS IN IT

Washington, July 4.—It is said that congress is more tolerant of expenditures by the department of agriculture than those of any other department of the executive branch of the government. What the department of agriculture spends usually comes home to the congressman, and if he were to check it he would be apt to hear a noise from his constituents, especially the farmers, for whose benefit experiments are made on a large scale with seeds and soils, and from automobilists and all others interested in good roads.

It is said that the automobilists started good roads and that the persistent use of the automobile has necessitated the extension of good roads everywhere, but the curious fact is that the insistent demand for good roads now, the department of agriculture has learned, comes from the farmers and people of rural districts.

It is their cry that interests the department of agriculture and not the cry of automobilists, because the department of agriculture is not interested in sports nor in the immediate comfort of cross-country tourists.

It is in the interest of the farmer and the villagers that the good roads bureau of the department of agriculture is spending money now for good roads experimentation and for making its discoveries public. It has a practical model of every kind of good road that it recommends. The models are arranged side by side and a plain tab tells of what materials each road is made and what kind of highway it is best adapted to.

This government exhibit is to be shown this year at every exposition from one end of the country to the other, and at every state fair where a government exhibit is in order. It represents six or eight sections of highways of different construction. The road in its rough state is shown, and in its decline, before the breaking up, when immediate attention should be given to it, and then in perfect order, the way it ought to be. Simple instructions are laid down with it without verbiage and engineering detail to confuse the mind, and these tell what kind of topographical conditions and subsoil and drainage must accompany the kind of road provided.

This exhibit goes a little further than merely showing a correct construction for earth, gravel, sand, clay, macadam, bituminous macadam, and brick roads. It shows with them a model of a steam roller and a quarry and a crushing plant so that any community might provide itself with an equipment. To make it more graphic the crushing plant and road roller are shown at work, being operated by electricity.

The Government's Policy.

All this is along the line of the established policy of the government in giving federal aid for good roads. The government goes on the idea that good roads are just as essential as rural delivery, and that rural delivery doesn't amount to much without good roads, though the government doesn't go quite so far as some of the congressmen would like to have it in spending money for good roads, not in educating the people, precisely, by showing them what good roads are, but by actually putting federal money alongside of county money and state money into the highways, and, if need be, in supplying all the money to open one or more good roads through those states that are so sparsely settled that it would be impossible for a handful of people in them to build them.

It is argued, for instance, that as a national principle Massachusetts should not have so much federal aid as Nevada, as Massachusetts has $200,000 of taxable property for each mile of highway in the state, while Nevada has $700. On the same rate of taxation Massachusetts could build three hundred miles of highway where the state of Nevada could build one mile. The broad view is that the highways of Nevada may be of economic importance to all the people of the country, and, therefore, the government ought to build highways where a state or a county can not reasonably be expected to build them.

Supporting a contention for greater federal aid in road building, Congressman Byrnes, of South Carolina, gave these reasons:

"In how many sections of this country today do you pick up the newspapers and see that rural carriers were unable to go out because of cold weather and the result of it, the fact being that they were unable to travel over the roads.

"And the produce of the farmer can not be brought to the market. What has been the result of that? There arose a system of storing commodities so that when this condition arose the people of the city would have the commodity there. But what has been the result? The opportunity to make money was soon realized, and now today the consumer complains that as a result of the storage system he is bearing an unjust burden too heavy for him. And if it is, can not it be charged directly to the system of bad roads? This is a problem. You now realize that it is no longer the problem of the country man; it is the problem of no class of people. It is the problem as much of the city as of the country.

FINDS FORTUNE IN OLD VIOLIN

Owner Did Not Know Its Value Until Stranger Made Offer.

THEN HE BID $7,500

Gettysburg, Pa., July 4.—Finding himself suddenly possessed of a violin evidently of immense value, Charles Riley, a farmer of moderate circumstances, is now happy over the turn of affairs, which has evidently made the rest of his life free from financial care. The instrument supposed to be of little value was given to Riley after his father's death, while other members of the family shared through various articles of furniture in the distribution of the parent's personal effects.

Riley thought little of his possession until, coming to Gettysburg, he was accosted in the street by a tourist, who offered $5 for he violin. Suspecting the instrument was worth more, Riley refused the offer. Gradually the bidder increased his offer until he reached $7,500, which Riley still refused. Later in the day another effort was made by another party to secure the instrument, but Riley is holding on to it until he learns its real value.

The violin bears the date of 1703 rudely carved and its history has been traced back some years. It was at one time in the possession of perons in South America, but first came into the possession of the Riley family when the father purchased it at a public sale for a mere song.

HOLDS A RECORD OF CANNIBALISM

Returning Globe Trotter Tells of Man-Eating Islanders.

KING EATS 100 MEN

New York, July 4.—On the Hamburg arrived last week a tall, mysterious stranger, dressed in linen and wearing a large white helmet several sizes too large. He was smooth-shaven, gaunt and yellow. He said that about eight months ago he had left his western home and since then had traveled between 31,000 and 32,000 miles.

Among the interesting places he said he had visited were the Fiji Islands. In his luggage he had about 600 photographs, the fruit of his camera.

"I do not want my name published in the paper," said the gaunt man, "because I wish to surprise my friends at home with my presence and pictures. If you will promise not to use my name I will give you a picture which I took myself of a big chief in the village of Nabukaluka, island of Vitileos, the largest island of the Fiji group. They call this man Rotu Rakuita, because he 'eats 'em alive.' He has a record of having eaten more than 100 men."

The reporter agreed to the terms, reasoning that a picture of the Fiji third term candidate would be worth more as news than the identity of the photographer.

The traveler said also that he had taken with him through the cannibal isles of New Guinea an English sky pilot, who had photographed him in a picture posed to represent a bunch of man-eaters about to make a feast off the attenuated globe-trotter, who is said to be a physician.

$75,000 TO KILL MOSQUITOES.

Inspectors Will Hunt Pestiferous Insects in New York Graveyards.

New York, July 4.—Although they won't be required to do the work in the dark of the moon, some of the large corps of inspectors engaged throughout Essex county in exterminating mosquitoes look with dread upon the task assigned them for the coming week, and on which they are about to start. It has been ascertained by the chief of the mosquito exterminators that millions of the insects are bred in receptacles used to hold flowers that decorate graves in the various cemeteries of the county, and the inspectors have been instructed to visit all the burying places and destroy every vessel capable of holding water. The county mosquito extermination commission is spending $75,000 this summer to eliminate the pest.

The Question

BY BERTON BRALEY

WHAT'S the Fourth of July to you, brother?
What does the great day mean to you?
Bombs and cannon and bands and flags,
Or something deeper and fine and true?
Does it light your eyes and make you thrill
With the thought of Yorktown and Bunker Hill,
And of Valley Forge in the winter's chill,
And the pain the fathers knew?

WHAT'S the Fourth of July to you brother?
What does the great day mean to you?
Does it make you think of the way to serve
Making the dream of the fathers true?
Does it stir your blood for the fight you face
To rid the land of its deep disgrace,
The sight of the beast in the holy place,
Of greed and its ugly crew?

WHAT'S the Fourth of July to you brother?
What does the great day mean to you?
Are you only a patriot who cheers
Or one who's willing to dare and do?
Do you raise your hat to the olden day,
But turn your steps from the modern fray
Against the greed that would hold its sway?
What is the Fourth to you?

WINS HER HUSBAND BY DIVE.

Girl Saved Drowning Man and Now They Are Both Saving.

Boston, Mass., July 4.—Love that began at first sight when the young woman leaped into the water and saved him from drowning ended in the marriage of Clarence C. Burgess, an attendant at the Medfield state asylum, and Marguerite M. Pell, of Woburn. News of the romantic marriage of the couple has been made known to all their friends. Until a short time ago Miss Pell was a nurse at the Medfield asylum, where Burgess is employed. She is 19 and he 23 years old. Two months ago both were out boating. The canoe in which Burgess had been paddling capsized and the young man shouted for help. Hearing his cries Miss Pell paddled her canoe up close and then dived into the water. She is an expert swimmer. She told her friends afterward that saving Burgess' life was easy for her. "And say, it was the greatest thing I ever did, for it has won me a husband," she added.

INGROWING HAIR KILLS HIM.

Fine Arts Instructor at Harvard Dies of Blood Poisoning.

Cambridge, Mass., July 4.—An ingrowing hair was the cause of the death of Garrick Mallory Borden, assistant instructor in fine arts at Harvard. His hair bothered the young instructor, and in relieving himself he scratched his neck. Blood poisoning set in and he was taken to the Stillman infirmary, where he died. Mr. Borden's home was in Wilkesbarre, Pa., where his body was taken by his father, R. P. Borden. The young man was a graduate from Cornell and had been an instructor at Harvard since 1909.

Picnic Party on the Fourth.

The main picnic party is dad. He "puts up" for the lunch and has to carry it, too. He is one of the Fourth's unsolved mysteries. His ways are as a sealed book to his better-half and the residue of his family. He will trot that lunch from the front gate to the park, through all the shady spots, hunting for a still better place, and then settle down where the ants are thickest and the grass thinnest, the sun brightest and trees scarcest. Why he does it no one knows.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

BIG ODDS ASKED BY THE BETTORS

Wolgast to Enter Ring a Favorite and He is Confident.

HE PUTS UP OWN COIN

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—No matter what the followers of the boxing game think of Ad Wolgast's condition, he has supreme confidence in himself and the fact that he made a bet of $500 to $1,000 that he would knock out Joe Rivers inside of ten rounds has sent odds on him flying and he will probably enter the arena a favorite at $10 to $4.

He has trained just one week for the bout and this is as long as he has ever trained. He spent a couple of weeks in the mountains and says that put him in condition to prepare himself for the battle with just a little boxing and if he fails to put his man out or is defeated he will leave the ring the worst disappointed champion that ever drew on a pair of gloves.

Joe Rivers is just as confident and he has a lot of admirers here willing to back him to win the fight, but they are making capital out of the confidence in the Wolgast camp by getting their money down at long odds, in some instances reaching two to one on the general result.

Tom Jones, manager for Wolgast and the man who made him a champion, has bet just $23,000 on the fight at odds of from ten to five and half and six and he still had $7,000 left of his and the champ's money which he expected to get down before the men enter the ring.

The biggest single bet in this lot was registered at Venice when Nat Goodwin came along and braced Jones after the afternoon's workout of Rivers. Goodwin was emphatically voicing his praises for the Mexican when Jones asked him how much he would place on his opinion. Goodwin quickly responded with $1,500 against $2,000 of the Wolgast end. This is absolutely the best Rivers end that has shown.

Every $5 and $10 seat had been sold last night and there remained but three $15 ringsideards. Less than one hundred of the ringside seats, at $20, remained unsold and none could be had at 9 o'clock this morning. A gallery capacity of 7,600 was held to be put on sale at the arena at 9 o'clock this morning, commanding $3 a head, and it is certain that four or five thousand fans will be turned away.

RACING CARS TO ARRIVE IN CITY

Will Be Here Early Tomorrow and Are to Get an Inspection.

DRIVERS WILL REST UP

Big cars to be used in the Bob Burman speed events at the local driving park on July 7 will arrive in Fort Wayne from Davenport, Ia., in special cars tomorrow morning early and two days will be devoted by the mechanicians to going over them to see that they are in condition.

This process is gone through every day and is done very carefully for the dangers of the racing game are enough at best without multiplying them by carelessness. Every part of the mechanism is given test after test before it is finally sent into a race, the tires and frame work of the cars are looked over to see if the enormous wear and tear to which they are subjected has affected them and every conceivable means of insuring the safety of the drivers is called into action.

Two days of rest will put Bob Burman and the drivers who will race with him on edge for the events carded at the Driving park. Although these men work in incredibly small part of their time the strain on their nerves is great and they need a day or two after each of their exhibitions to get themselves together for their next show.

A bit of rain in the next day or two will put the track in condition for record breaking. It will also relieve the races of dust that bothers both the drivers and spectators.

$25 BRONCHO MAY WIN CLASSICS ON GRAND CIRCUIT TRACKS THIS YEAR.

Shipped east five years ago and sold from a herd for $25, a range bred pony is entered in $25,000 worth of pacing stakes, including the Chamber of Commerce, this year.

The horse is Tom Kink, 2-13¼, owned by T. J. Kings of Irene, S. D.

King bought the pony from E. E. Pettengill of Rock Rapids, Ia., and Pettengill purchased him from a herd of broncbos owned by a man named Dreyfoos, in July, 1907.

Tom King is branded on his left shoulder with a brand resembling a three-legged milking stool, and was converted to the pace by Pettengill, who wanted him as a mate to a pacer he owned.

The discovery of the pony's speed was accidental, Pettengill hooking him to a cart at the request of some neighbors and driving him a furlong in 16 seconds.

T. J. King heard of the broncho pacer through Pat Boyle, who was working a string of harness horses at the Rock Rapids fair grounds, and bought him for $200 in 1909.

Tim King is a little fellow, standing 14 hands 2 inches and weighing but 750 pounds. His first start was in 1911 in North Dakota and he finished third in 2:21½. He raced last season and in the fall forced Direct Hal to a mile in 2:08¼ to beat him.

King believes the little fellow will do this year and is spending considerable money in entry fees.

JOKE PLAYER IS SENSATION OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

ROL CHAPMAN.

From the infield of a country town high school nine to the American league in three years—such has been the flash across the baseball firmament of Roy Chapman, the chain-lightning shortstop of the Toledo American association club and the latest sensation of baseball.

Chapman will be a member of the Cleveland club before the season is over. Charles Somers, owner of both the Cleveland and Toledo franchises, is now trying to induce his fellow magnates in the major league to let him send Third Baseman Olson to Toledo in trade for Chapman.

Like Roy Capron, that other sensation of the association, Chapman is a speed marvel. He used to do a hundred yards in 10 2-5 seconds and the 220 yards in 23 flat, when a student in the Herrin, Ill., high school and was quite some football player.

Chapman has been burning up the association this season, and it has only been a question of time when he would be sold, traded or drafted into one of the major leagues.

If there was any likelihood of a fair chance at Chapman, the record of $22,500 set by Barney Dreyfuss when he bought Marty O'Toole, would be broken.

In fact, Frank Farrell, owner of the New York American league club, has said he would make this price look cheap if Somers would put his star upon the block.

But Somers isn't selling Chapman—not while the Naps need men like him—and they do right now. At the beginning of the season Olson was the Nap captain, but a little matter of boxing skill between him and Pitcher Mitchell resulted in his reduction to the ranks and the appointment of the brains of the Cleveland team—Joe Birmingham.

Chapman is a shortstop, and a whirlwind shortstop, too. He has a powerful throwing arm and the ability to throw from almost any position. He is so fast that he gets in front of the ball when another would be trying for it with his finger tips.

Every big league scout has looked at Chapman this summer, although each knew the time was wasted.

In 48 games Chapman stole 20 bases, and from his position as clean-up batter, fourth, scored 37 runs. He made 61 hits, his average being .351. And best of all, he hits in the pinches. His fielding has been sensational and his base running one of the marvels of the game.

Chapman hesitated, when he left high scholo, between a scholastic inducement and a contract from the Springfield Three I league club, finally accepting the latter. Lack of experience held him back, and Springfield was about to release him when Davenport, of the same league, bought him for $250. This was a league joke, but in a short time Chapman had them all watching him.

Bill Armour, then president of the Toledo club, bought Chapman for $1,000 last summer. Chapman played for Toledo one month last fall, but it was late and his skill was overlooked. On the first trip this spring he started like an explosion of gun cotton and has continued at the same speed since.

Chapman is the real thing, sure enough, and if he plays the same game on the big rinz that he has everywhere else his name will become a household necessity before the peach crop is picked.

SET NEW PITCHING MARK.

New York, July 4.—After a hair-raising pitching duel with Nap Rucker that lasted for two hours Rube Marquard broke all records yesterday by winning his nineteenth straight game against Brooklyn, 3 to 1. The records Marquard had to beat were made by Radbourne of Providence, who won eighteen consecutive games in 1880, and by Luby of Chicago, who tied it in 1890.

EXPECT AN EVEN BREAK WITH SOX

Pitchers Tiring Under the Strain But Game and Full of Ginger.

ON THE LAST STAND

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 4.—Manager Frank J. Shaughnessy, at the head of his battling Billikens, says his pitchers are tiring under the heavy strain of the last six days and that he will be satisfied with an even break here and that Roy Keener will be sent in again and given a chance to see whether or not he has really "come back" as a pitcher.

Games booked here for morning and afternoon are threatened by rain and it may be possible that both will have to be played as a double bill in the afternoon.

Manager Ed Smith arrived home this morning with his battered hand after the loss of a double bill at Dayton. Ben Kechler is still unable to play, but may get into the game in the next week, as he is recovering slowly from an operation to which he submitted at a local hospital two weeks ago.

TOOK FINAL COMBAT.

Fort Wayne Registered Four Victories in Five Games.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

South Bend, Ind., July 4.—That Fort Wayne's pitching staff is overworked and in need of the rest that will come as soon as the club arrives home, where it has no postponed games to double, was proven in the final bout with the Green Stockings when Charlie Alberts, one of the most consistent Billiken performers, was batted for thirteen hits, more than he had given in any two games within the last two weeks.

However, his support was superb and while Masters was not hit as hard as the visiting hurler, Fort Wayne's batting was opportune and the hits yielded handsome returns. The final score was eight to four.

Blount started the matinee with a single and went to second on Vandagrift's bunt. Shaughnessy failed in a pinch and Clancy hit, scoring Blount and registered with Rogers on his home run.

Wetzel scored the first for the Greens in the seventh, when he hit and his work was followed up by safe drives by Turner and Nespo. In the eighth the Billikens iced the game. Singles by McLafferty and Alberts and a pass to Blount filled the bases. A squeeze play by Vandagrift scored McLafferty and advanced the other runners and Shaugnessy sent them in with his single.

Rogers hit in the ninth, Fabrique was safe on Nespo's error and Rogers took third. On a double steal Rogers counted. Alberts chopped another single and scored Fabrique.

South Bend came strong in the last half of the ninth. Wetzel and Turner hit and with two gone Ferrias was sent in to hit for Masters and he scored one run with a single and Tieman sent in another pair with his safe drive. Turner is a college outfielder from the University of Pennsylvania and he succeeded Lee Tannehill, who was released. The score:

EMPEROR GOES TO MEET CZAR.

William of Germany Is Cheered as He Arrives at Baltic Port.

Baltic Port, Russia, July 4.—The German emperor, accompanied by the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, his third son, Prince Adelhert, arrived here today on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, escorted by the dreadnought cruiser Moltke, to meet the emperor of Russia, who, with the members of his family, Premier Kokovsoff and Foreign Minister Sasonoff, was already in waiting her. A division of Russian torpedo boats, the Russian admiralty yacht Neva, with the German ambassador to Russia and the attaches of the German embassy at St. ePtersburg, went out to meet the German emperor, who upon his arrival received the salutes of the assembled Russian warships and was greeted with cheers by their crews, to which the sailors of the Moltke replied.

LAS VEGAS WILL NOT SEE CROWDS

Many Sporting Men on Hand But Attendance is Disappointing.

READY FOR THE MILL

Las Vegas, N. M., July 4.—Attendance at the battle between Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn, carded for 3 o'clock this afternoon will fall way below the Reno affair of last year and if Promoter Jack Curley and his backers make any money out of the fight they can thank their lucky stars.

There are many notable men of the fighting world here and they are here for the purpose of looking over the white aspirant and to see what chance he has to become a champion in the heavyweight division, but the gate will not come near the one at Reno and this is a big disappointment.

Johnson certainly looks to be in good condition, despite reports to the contrary. He went twenty-one minutes yesterday afternoon with Cutler without taking a second's rest, and not ten minutes, as given out by his trainer. That would indicate pretty good staying power.

Flynn's only chance is to rely on his wonderful endurance and stamina and endeavor to carry Johnson along for fifteen or twenty rounds in hopes of discouraging him and sapping his strength, that is to keep covered up and act entirely on the defensive except where he has an opportunity now and then to rough it to the body. If Johnson has a weakness it will no doubt develop by that time, but it is 100 to 1 that Flynn will not do it, for his temper gets riled easy, and Johnson may taunt him. It will be Johnson's game to get him riled and make him rush, for then Jack will use that piston like left, and cut and jab him at his pleasure.

It is liable to be a rough fight from the jump, in which event it will end before the twelfth round. Don't be surprised to hear the ticker give out the winner anywhere between the seventh and twelfth rounds, and fifteen at the outside, with "Lil Artha" on the winning ticket.

There was little change in the prevailing odds of 2 to 1 on Johnson to win, although a variety of freak bets were offered. The "freaks" dealt for the most part with knockdowns. Several offers at long odds that Flynn woul not knock Johnson down at all during the fight were rested by commissioners, but they did not seem to be popular.

Johnson added another chapter to his declaration of confidence today, according to his own statement, by telegraphing $5,000 to San Francisco to be placed on himself to win in fifteen rounds.

TICKET SALE IS VERY PROMISING

Indicates Crowd at the Rink to See the Match This Afternoon.

EVERYTHING IS READY

A big advance sale of tickets for the boxing match at the Princess rink at 3 o'clock this afternoon promised a big crowd to see the two events that are attracting most interest.

Eddie Santry came in last night from Chicago to preside at the mills and all of the men announced themselves in readiness for the bouts.

Joe Herrick came in with Santry and rested here last night for his engagement with Patsy McKenna. The referee thinks that Herrick is a good man and is confident he will give McKenna a run for his money.

If Frankie Mason is fit he will go against Nick Little, but if he is not Martin O'Keefe, of Pittsburg, is expected to take his place. He wired last night that he would be here. Mason has been ill and late yesterday he was afraid he would not be able to take on his man.

The bouts will start promptly at 8 o'clock and returns will be received from the fights both at Las Vegas and Los Angeles.

REGRETS MISSING AIM.

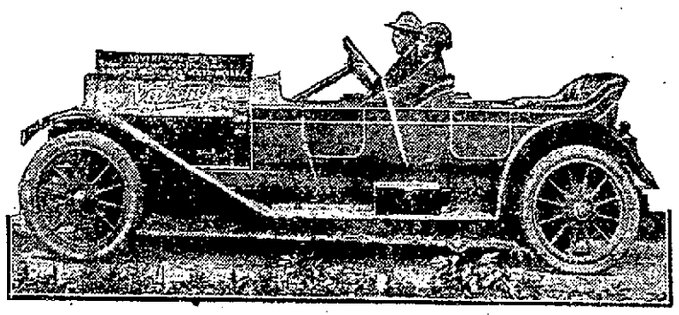
Man Who Attempted Murder of Hong Governor is Disappointed.

Hong Kong, China, July 4.—The attempted assassination yesterday of Sir Francis Henry May, the newly appointed governor of Hong Kong, is regarded as possessing some political significance. The would-be murderer was formerly a hospital dispenser in this city. He said this morning that he regretted that he had missed his aim. He wanted to kill the governor because the colonial government of Hong Kong had stopped the circulation of Chinese copper coins on British territory and he interpreted this action as directed against China.

At their next meeting the members of the Knights of Columbus will consider the date for their annual outing at Robison park. This outing is one of the big affairs of the year.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE.

Advance Car of the Four State Tour Arrives



Today marked the arrival of the stormy petrel of the Second Indiana Four States Tour in this city.—a big powerful six-cylinder Nyberg tourabout which is acting as the advance advertising car of the tour which follows later. Mr. Arthur Burrell of Indianapolis, is placing the advertising matter along the tour and making final arrangements for the accommodation of the Hoosier motorcade which leaves Indianapolis on July 9. E. E. Arbuckle of Anderson, Indiana, is driving the car and looking after the Nyberg interests on this advance trip. He reports some hard and fast driving owing to the very strenuous schedule which this, the advertising car must hold. Owing to the fact that frequent and long stops must be made in every place through which they pass, racing speed must be maintained whenever the open road permits. The Nyberg car will make the entire run in about two-thirds of the time of the regular tour and will catch up with it in time to repeat the tour with the regular entrants.

Selfish as it looks when the long gray motor car bowls along with only two passengers and room for four, the Nyberg car is not travelling with light marching equipment by any means. In the tonneau is very close to a thousand pounds of printed matter for distribution along the way. This alone means that the Nyberg car is carrying over the regular weight, not counting the sunburned and dust-begrimed passengers and their personal baggage. Despite this extra weight the Nyberg car is holding unflinchingly to its self-imposed task. As Mr. Henry Nyberg, President of the Nyberg Company said when the car left Indianapolis: "While we do not enter racing contests or endurance runs as a factory project, leaving this part of the motor game to our dealers and owners, I consider this run of the advertising car as strenuous a test as it is possible to give any car. Travelling as it does alone, we must have faith in our product, for it will be subjected to every stress and strain that is imposed on a motor car during years of every day use. We were glad to offer our car for this advance run, as it gives us an opportunity to show how much use and abuse our regular stock product will stand."

Boys Off Duty, Playing Cards in Camp—Winter of 1862.

Drummer Boys and Other Boys On Duty—"Where the Shot and Shell Are Screaming".

They Were Almost All Boys

NO MORE astounding truth was ever brought home to the world than the fact that almost half the soldiers in the Civil War was made up of boys.

Why, more than a million of the Boys in Blue were not over 19; more than 800,000 only 17 years or less; there were 100,000 who were not more than 15.

In the Confederate ranks, also, there were thousands upon thousands of boys—because every male over 15 was expected to serve in the army.

Of the price that was paid, or the mere boys who paid the price; of the truth of that terrible struggle between the North and South, we knew almost nothing until the discovery of the

Long-Lost, Original Brady Civil War Photographs

In 16 Superb Sections
One Issued Each Week for Only 10 Cents Each

Turn from page to page in any section of this wonderful work—scan the faces in the long-lost War Photographs and you can see for yourself the many mere boys among the soldiers.

Some of these boys you see marching, digging trenches, doing camp-work and laboring at the guns on the firing line. Others are beating drums, carrying water, or at games and pastimes. Pitiful to behold, are those pictures that show us shattered youth in the hospitals; budding manhood in the prisons; a life cut short on the battlefield.

In these pictures of Brady's we also see the first boy generals, their smooth faces already set with responsibility; we see George Dewey as a busy lieutenant of a Mississippi gunboat; we see pictures of six future presidents of the United States when they were smooth-faced Civil War soldiers.

You owe it to yourself, you owe it to your children, to present them with these Brady War Photographs, complete with Elson's newly written history, entitled,

"The Civil War Through The Camera"

Nothing is better for your boy than to read and learn about the many famous men who took some part in that great conflict. Among those whose photographs were taken by Brady and his followers, and the history of each, are the following:

—Grant in camp and on the march—always unassuming, always simple, always great;
—Sherman on his war-horse, contemplating his March to the Sea;
—Sheridan as he looked on his immortal ride with "Winchester only twenty miles away";
—Cowan at the head of his battery, riding to battle;
—Golden-haired, dare-devil Custer in the joy of his youth;
—"Daring Dave" Farragut on the "Hartford's" deck after "damning the torpedoes" of Mobile Bay;
—McClellan holding his last interview with the martyr Commander-in-Chief—Abraham Lincoln;
—Jefferson Davis, the Confederate President, in his riding-suit when captured;
—Stonewall Jackson just before his last "flanking" march and his mortal wound;
—"Jeb" Stuart, the gallant knight, with his famous plumes;
—Admiral Semmes just escaped from the sinking "Alabama";
—Pickett, leader of the Confederacy's "high-tide" at Gettysburg; and
—Lee, the idol of the Confederacy, with sword and sash, at the height of his fame in '63—"Every inch a soldier."

An Educational Work That Fascinates The Young Folks

Boys and girls, whether they "like history" or not, will study every picture, every page in this remarkable work. So fascinating is the facing of the pages of text with photographs of the very persons, places and times described, that the child reads on and on, glad to learn about the strange and exciting scenes, the soldiers and their guns, the ladies with their queer crinolines, the statesmen with their high hats, the dashing horses, the towering ships of war, the yawning cannon—until more education has been absorbed in "evenings at home" than months of study at school could bring from the old-fashioned books.

While each section is complete in itself, and can be enjoyed without reference to any of the others, you will want to get them all. Each week a new Section is issued. This week is

FIRST EXCURSION OF THE SEASON

Nickel Plate Carried 1,500 People from Bellevue to Vermillion.

FRANK W. MORSE TO LEAVE THE ALTON

Retirement One of Changes Incident to Resignation of Schontz.

The Nickel Plate is having its first big excursion today of the season. It is the annual outing of the Sunday schools of Bellevue, whose children, teachers and the parents went down to Vermilion over 1,500 strong. They had two special trains and each is said to have been filled to the full seating capacity of the cars. Frank P. Parmin, traveling passenger agent of the Nickel Plate, went down to Bellevue to assist in looking after the comfort and safety of the excursionists.

E. A. GOULD HERE YESTERDAY.

E. A. Gould spent two or three hours in the city yesterday on railway business and took advantage of the opportunity to call on some of his friends, both in the railway and business circles in the city. Mr. Gould was well known here fifteen years ago, when he was division superintendent of the Wabash. He is now assistant to General Manager W. C. Loree, of the Baltimore and Ohio, and his mission here was to make arrangements with the Wabash to handle the Findlay train and its passenger and freight business in this city.

NEW AGENT FOR L. E. & W.

Bulletins are out announcing the promotion of Charles L. Holloway to traveling passenger agent of all New York Central lines in Oklahoma, with headquarters in Oklahoma City. Mr. Holloway has been traveling passenger agent of the Fort Wayne branch of the Lake Erie and Western system for the past three or four years, making regular monthly trips to Fort Wayne. He will be succeeded by Bert Arnett, ticket agent at Kokomo for the Lake Erie and Western. The changes become effective next Saturday, July 6.

FRANK MORSE MAY RESIGN.

Chicago Papers Say Such Action is Quite Probable.

It is rumored in Chicago, and considerable credence is given it, that Frank W. Morse will soon resign as vice president and general manager of the Chicago and Alton railroad. The Chicago Record-Herald, in commenting on the rumor yesterday, said: "B. A. Worthington, the new president of the Alton lines, will hereafter be the chief operating officer of the road, and it is pointed out that there hardly will be room enough for two operating officials like Mr. Morse and Mr. Worthington unless some rearrangement of existing methods is made. President Worthington was connected with the Harriman lines for years and is credited with being an expert in railroad operating matters." Mr. Morse took his present office with the Alton about eight months ago. He resided in Fort Wayne several years and his friends here will look forward with considerable interest to further news concerning his intentions.

WARNING TO TRESPASSERS.

Some of the newspapers in this part of the country are pointing to the bridge disaster at Muncie Saturday afternoon which wiped out three young lives in an instand and a warning to others to keep off railway property. James B. Thompson, Harry and James Williams, aged respectively 17, 18 and 19 years, were returning home from a fishing trip down the river and stopped on the Big Four trucks to watch a train on another road. As they stood with their attention directed elsewhere, the Big Four passenger train came flying around the curve and killed all three men.

CONDUCTOR WATTERSON AT HOME.

Conductor David W. Watterson, of the Nickel Plate, is now in a fair way to complete recovery. He was operated upon at the hospital three or four weeks ago for gallstones and the case was a bad one. He soon began to improve, however, and this week was so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital for his home.

CALLER M'MULLEN RECOVERING.

Michael A. McMullen, the Pennsylvania caller, who lost a leg by being run down by an engine at the round house several weeks ago, is making good progress towards recovery. He is at St. Joseph hospital and word was given out that he would be able to be transferred from bed to a wheel chair this week.

TRAVEL GOOD ON RAILROADS.

Although no special rates were given, travel last night and this morning over the steam and trolley lines was exceedingly good. All of the steam road agents were surprised at the volume of traffic, saying it was nearly up to the standard of former years when rates were made for the Fourth.

CONTIUES TO IMPROVE.

Nickel Plate Engineer Frank E. Telley, who was burned about the face, neck and hands in an accident at the Grand Trunk crossing Tuesday noon, is out and walking about and will soon be back at the throttle.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Delbert V. Purdy, of this city, has gone to Van Wert to attend the funeral of his father, George W. Purdy, who was killed by being struck by the Pennsylvania wreck train Tuesday afternoon.

The Erie company and the Standard Oil company are about to lock horns over a dispute which will delay double track work on the Huntington end of the line, if it does not stop it altogether. The Standard company has a pipe line on the Erie right-of-way which it refuses to remove, and without removing the pipes double tracking cannot proceed.

While assisting in handling a boiler sheet in the Wabash shops, E. A. Baumgart was painfully injured when the heavy sheet slipped, striking Mr. Baumgart's hand and inflicting a deep cut.

George J. Miller is at Defiance, Clarence Patrick is at Napoleon, and Anthony Klotz and Heramn Miller are at Toledo to spend the Fourth. All are clerks in the Wabash freight office, George Miller being the chief clerk.

USES TEETH IN WRITING.

Deprived of Hands, Boy Develops Remarkable Ability.

Steubenville, Ohio, July 4.—Westcomb Atwell, aged nine, who lost both arms last year, has bravely mastered to some extent his physical defect in his desire to get an education, and there is wide interest in his efforts at school. He adapts himself to his almost helpless condition by making good use of the other members of his body, which are being trained to take the place of the lost hands.

He now writes or figures by holding a pen or pencil between his teeth, and has made remarkable progress in using his mouth as a carry-all.

One day recently he presented the teacher with a fine bouquet of lilacs, carrying them to her by catching the steams in his mouth. Supt. R. L. Ervin is also proud of his pupil's achievements in learning, and exhibited specimens of his writing before the recent sessions of the Ohio Valley Round Table.

CUSTARD PIE IS PAY.

Man Agrees to Make Oration for Homemade Pastry.

Kansas City, July 4.—Kimbrough Stone sat in his law office at the critical time of the afternoon when a man's inner consciousness turns to thoughts of the evening meal. Probably this accounts for his wonderful presence of mind when, in answer to a 'phone call from Blue Springs, asking him to deliver the Fourth of July oration at that place, he replied: "Your invitation is accepted, Mr. Binger, if you promise some more of that good custard pie. The kind your wife makes."

Evidently the inquirer at the other end of the 'phone did not take his conditional answer seriously, for he continued to insist on Stone's speech. All argument was cut short in determined manner by this ultimatum: "I tell you if you will assure me that I shall have some of that good Sni-a-Bar custard pie I shall be more than glad to make you all a Fourth of July oration." He was assured of the pie.

PLANK IN BRIDGE TIPS AUTO.

Upside Down in Instant With Four Occupants, Then on Fire.

Pottsville, Pa., July 4.—An automobile owned by Contractor James W. Heffner turned upside down at Palo Alto bridge and caught fire from the explosion of a gasoline lamp. Four occupants of the car had a narrow escape from being consumed in the flames, which burned up the automobile and set fire to the big bridge where the accident occurred. Quick work on the part of the Palo Alto and Port Carbon fire companies saved the bridge from destruction. Andrew Gloss and Nicholas Dennebaum, the occupants of the car, were painfully but not seriously injured. The cause of the accident was a high plank in the bridge; then gasoline escaped when the machine turned over and caught fire from a lamp.

Gee, what's the use of having a Fourth if it's got to rain!

TICKET PLEASES AT INDIANAPOLIS

State Democratic Leaders Shower Marshall With Congratulations.

SAY IT WILL TRIUMPH

Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—"Elated" would be a mild word to use in expressing the feelings of the democratic leaders here at Indianapolis following the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for president and Governor Marshall for his running mate. Since early yesterday morning the state house has been filled with loyal democrats who came to congratulate the governor and who stand about in groups congratulating each other on the result of the convention. Democrats of state and national reputation are of one opinion—that the national convention could not have nominated a stronger ticket or one that would have met with more favor among the voters of Hoosierdom.

The feeling of Indiana democracy was well expressed by Bert New, secretary of the state committee, and Governor Marshall's former legal clerk, when he said today:

"The nominations made at Baltimore are entirely satisfactory to the Indiana democracy. I will make the statement stronger than that, because it is known that the ticket of Wilson and Marshall has been received with tremendous enthusiasm. We get both our first choice and our second choice—not, it is true, in the order which we preferred, but we get them. Indiana democrats went to the convention hoping that Governor Marshall would be chosen for the first place on the ticket. The delegation was united and enthusiastic for him. Everything that could be done was done, but conditions developed in such a way as to defeat our hope in that respect. It became apparent that Governor Wilson was the first choice of the country and therefore the logical candidate. Indiana went to him as soon as this fact was demonstrated and did it whole-heartedly. After his nomination it was conceded that Governor Marshall was the proper man to choose as his running mate and the convention speedily came to this conclusion.

"I want to say that no more loyal delegation ever went from this state to a national convention than that which went to Baltimore for Governor Marshall. Under the leadership of Mr. Taggart the delegation was absolutely consistent all the time. Great credit is due to Mr. Taggart and the other delegates for the splendid outcome of the convention's work, both as it concerns the candidate for president and for vice president. I feel sure that the people of Indiana will ratify the nominations by one of the largest majorities ever recorded. Not only are the democrats thoroughly united, but they have a ticket which will appeal to thousands of republicans and independents in this state and hundreds of thousands throughout the country."

Another remarkable feature of the situation in this state is the attitude taken by the three Indianapolis daily newspapers. The News, Star and Sun, all of them republican in leaning, united in praising both the democratic nominees. Above all the Indianapolis republican press commended the progressive stand taken by the democratic party. This fact has caused many political leaders, both democratic and republican, to indulge in much speculation as to what attitude the three Indianapolis newspapers will assume as the campaign advances.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Wilson has been highly regarded by the News ever since he started his campaign for the nomination. Column after column has been devoted to the New Jersey governor. Although the News is a pro-Taft paper, it is pointed out by both democrats and republicans that it cannot now consistently wage a fight upon Woodrow Wilson.

The Coffee Can Is Becoming A Sensitive Subject

A couple of years ago one could get a pound of fairly decent coffee for from 15 to 25 cts. Now that same coffee costs from 25 cts to 45 cts. per pound and a further raise of ten cents is in prospect.

"There's a Reason"

Four years ago Brazil found that in spite of the fact that it was producing over 90% of the coffee consumed in the United States, its rich planters were not squeezing as much money out of Americans as they could and the Brazilian government was not receiving enough revenue from a product that was one of that country's chiefest products.

And so Brazil determined to levy tribute upon rich and prosperous America, even as the British taxed our tea in olden days; only this modern type of piracy was engineered and executed in a kid glove way.

Certain foreign capitalists (German, English and others) were called into consultation. They devised a scheme called "valorization." They started by buncoing our American Congress into removing the import tax on coffee, and that done, Brazil immediately transferred the income to its own treasury by imposing an export tax. This was followed by perfecting a system whereby the Brazilian government could control the output and the price of coffee.

The net result has been that Brazil for the last three years has sold just what grades of coffee it wanted to sell, at any price it chose to fix; and in consequence the Brazilian government has shared with a syndicate of foreign money kings a profit of HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS, every cent of which has come from the pockets of the American People.

This Is Where YOU Come In

The average coffee drinker knows that coffee is a really harmful drink to most folks. Headache, biliousness, indigestion and other signs of an up-set liver, as well as heart irritation, nervousness and sleeplessness are too evident to most coffee drinkers to permit of their ignorance of that fact.

Economy to Health and Purse, Suggests the new American Drink—

INSTANT POSTUM

Made in the cup—no boiling required

Made of American wheat and American sugar cane, processed and combined in an American factory by American citizens, this pure food product is roasted just like coffee and has a color and taste much resembling high-grade Java.

A tin of Instant Postum instead of the next pound of coffee from your grocer will quickly prove—

"There's a Reason"

If your grocer does not have Instant Postum, send his name and address and a 2-cent stamp to cover postage, and we will mail you a 5-cup sample tin.

MEET TODAY TO PLAN CAMPAIGN

National Committee Will Confer With Governor Wilson.

WILL HEED ADVICE

Sea Girt, N. J., July 4.—Upon the visit here today of the national committee awaits the planning of the democratic campaign. Until the committee's arrival Governor Wilson will say no word of the form which he expects the line of battle to take.

The committee will visit the nominee in a body at his summer home. It is expected here at 2 p. m., and at a luncheon under the trees of the governor's lawn will meet in conference with him. At this meeting the governor expects to discuss with the committeemen three things, namely:

The platform, the chairmanship of the campaign, the campaign trip or trips.

At 9 o'clock last night the governor's callers had given him no opportunity to read the platform. He said he would read it closely during the evening. Until he should have digested it, he said, he would not discuss it.

Governor Wilson made it clear that his "mind was open" on the chairmanship. He had made no selection, he said, nor would he choose the man until after the conference. Three names were oftenest on his caller's lips today in this connection, but when each was suggested to the governor tonight he had but one reply:

"I have made no choice."

The men in question were William F. McCombs, the Princeton graduate and lawyer, who managed the governor's primary campaign; Robert S. Hudspeth, of Jersey City, twice eastern campaign manager of the democratic party, and Senator O'Gorman, of New York, whom the governor regards an ardent and capable supporter.

As to the campaign trips, the governor has strong personal leanings to remain at home. He said last night that he wished he would not have to stir from Sea Girt. He fears his counsellors will advise a long tour, and if they can show him how it would help he said he would go willingly.

Bit by bit there are coming to light incidents of Governor Wilson's making during the convention and immediately prior thereto. Today his secretary told the history of the telegrams to William J. Bryan in answer to Mr. Bryan's message declaring against the selection of Alton B. Parker as temporary chairman of the convention.

"As soon as Mr. Bryan's message became public, even before it reached the governor," the secretary said, "the Wilson managers at Baltimore got the governor on the phone.

"'Don't answer the message until you hear from us,' they begged. And the governor said he wouldn't.

"Down at Baltimore they rigged up a rough draft of a reply and sent it to the governor. He read it and handed it to me. It dodged the issue. The governor took it from my hands.

"'It won't do, Joe,' he said as he tore it into bits. 'The people expect more than this of me. It wouldn't be just to them or myself if I used this. We'll fix up another.'

"He took a pad and placed it across his knee and wrote his answer to Mr. Bryan without crossing out a single word he had put down."

DR. HARDMAN

SPECIALIST

I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases

Others Treat — I Cure

Every man who does less than he should at his desk, in the shop or on the farm is weak in some way. I have found that the man who is unable to accomplish all that he hopes or expects is often the silent sufferer from hidden chronic or pelvic disease, that is affecting one or more of the important nerve centers of the body.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the result of CHRONIC or imperfectly treated PELVIC DISEASES. My special methods of treatment not only quickly and permanently relieve the most distressing symptoms, but restore to a NORMAL and HEALTHY condition the broken down and devitalized nervous system.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken down nervous system and many more of the troubles of the STOMACH, LIVER, KIDNEYS, etc. are reflex, and are the direct result of some pelvic lesion or disease.

BLOOD POISON—I use serums and vegetable drugs in the treatment of blood poison. Mercury and mineral poisons have ruined many a man. My treatment eliminates the poison in half the time of the old methods and leaves the blood and tissues free from any taint of disease.

RUPTURE—I cure rupture in a few treatments, without the use of the knife, without pain or without loss of time.

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, PILES, FISTULA, etc., quickly and permanently cured without the knife and without detention from business.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—Hundreds of men in every community are suffering untold humiliation and torture from pain and non-retention of urine simply because they have not been able to obtain relief from this most distressing condition. You cannot afford to neglect yourself, either as a matter of business or personal comfort. My many testimonials prove the efficacy of my methods. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure fully 90 per cent. of all cases.

GALLANTRY WINS LIBERTY.

Negro Who Slashed Policeman Believed Girl Was in Peril.

Mays Landing, N. J., July 4.—Few men manage to cut their way out of a crowd, slashing three policemen and escaping a fusilade of pistol shots, without paying the penalty behind bars, but Henry Lewis, colored, did this in Atlantic City, and was acquitted before Judge Higbee of the charge of atrocious assault preferred by the three officers on the strength of testimony of his gallantry in going to the assistance of a damsell in distress. On the night of May 20 a girl was accused by a partner of separating him from a wallet, and was pursued by Ernest Washington, an officer, who attempted to arrest her. She cried "murder," and Lewis, hearing the alarm and believing her in trouble, rushed to her rescue. He was promptly knocked down by the officer and two others rushed up with a crowd to help Washington. Lewis, who declared he did not know they were officers and believing himself in the hands of ruffians, drew a pocket knife and virtually cut his way out of the crowd.

Liquor Habit Cured
IN FIVE DAYS

It is a known fact that persons addicted to the liquor habit shorten their lives; that the constant use of liquor will produce diseases and cause financial loss or failure.

This treatment is harmless and leaves no bad effects. No minerals or injections used.

Each patient is given a private room. Meals are served in the room of each patient. No one knows you have taken the treatment unless you tell.

We contract to effect a complete cure satisfactory to the patient or the fee shall be refunded on leaving the institution and the treatment costs nothing.

1,211 DOGS HAVE BIT HIM.

Therefore, Though From Newark, He Gets Montclair Job of Catcher.

New York, July 3.—David Steinfield, of Newark, N. J., will become official dog catcher of Montclair, N. J. He qualified by declaring that he had been bitten 1,211 times by dogs, mad and otherwise, and was immune to hydrophobia.

Alderman Thomas P. McGlynn, of Montclair, an ardent advocate of home rule, wanted no Newark importation for dog catcher, and suggested that a Montclair man get the appointment with a record of 1,211.

"I want to give an exhibition," Steinfield said, "to convince Alderman McGlynn that as a dog catcher I have no equal. If the Alderman will supply the mad dog I will catch him with my bare hands."
